Three Die In Blazing Rest Home

Flaming Tank Truck Smashes Into Building

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP)—A flaming tank truck carrying heating gas rammed driverless through the front door of a rest home Friday. Three persons died and 15 or more others were burned.

More than 38 bedridden or mental patients were in the modern, one-story home.

Fire raged out of control more than two hours and the roof collapsed.

Fire fighters from neighboring towns came to the aid of this town of 5,000 about 28 miles northwest of Wichita Falls in northern Texas.

The dead were identified as Mary Lee Sorrells, 87, of Electra; Maud Barker, 83, of Dallas, and Myrtle Hunt, age unknown, of Electra.

Damage Estimated At $100,000

Wichita County Sheriff Ham Vance said the truck caught fire as it rolled along Texas 25 about two miles northwest of Electra.

He said his information was that the driver, Dan Craighead, jumped and suffered critical injuries. Craighead, in his early 20s, is from Electra and worked for the Kelley-Matchett Butane Co. of Vernon, Tex.

Mrs. Hugh Lee, editor of the Electra Star-News, said from the hospital: "Doctors and nurses were cleaning them up.

"Most of the patients were elderly and some might have been in a state of shock.

Relatives At Hospital

"The way they brought them in was orderly. Relatives looked in the halls for their loved ones. They were crying and upset."

The hospital has about 50 beds.

"It looked like it tried to go right into the building."

The one-story, ranch-style Hillcrest Haven Rest Home is about 60 feet off the highway. Thick gray smoke boiled from all windows of the building.

"The main trouble was the firemen couldn't get to the blaze," said Bingham.

"The truck was still burning. The major fire was around the truck."

Some fire fighters were overcome by smoke.

The truck driver, who jumped from the vehicle when it caught fire, was reported in serious condition. Three patients at the rest home died in the fire while 15 or more other patients suffered burns. 225,000 Greet Johnson In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson opened a two-day goodwill visit to Iran on Friday with a plug for reforms instituted by the shah. And he shook scores of hands.

A crowd estimated by police at 225,000 gave Johnson what he himself called a "heart - warming greeting." He responded by pledging, "Iran's independence and national integrity will not be breached."

The vice president in his "meet the people" tour of the Middle East also is conferring with government officials, but a U.S. spokesman said, "There will be no commitments."

Johnson, by his informality, gave the imperial guard and police some uneasy moments as he stopped his motorcade from the airport four times to get closer to the people.

The American visitor told a group of raggedly dressed workers along the desert roadside, "We in Washington are enthusiastic and proud of the reforms instituted here" by the shah.

And over and over again he gave assurances to the Iranians: "Your country and mine stand together in the common cause of freedom. A free Iran is vital to the strength of the free world."

Millionaire's Death Plunge Investigated

NEW YORK (AP)—The millionaire head of a trading stamp firm plunged 12 stories Friday from Manhattan's newest hotel. His death had the outward appearance of suicide, but police said it could be murder.

The baffling mystery began at 6:30 a.m. when guests at the Summit Hotel, 51st St. at Lexington Ave., heard the body of Herbert Segal, 67, land on a second-floor setback. He had plunged from his 14th-floor room.

Segal, raised on New York's Lower East Side, amassed a fortune over the years in a variety of business enterprises. He checked into the hotel Thursday and set up a business appointment to discuss sale of the stamp firm he headed. Meanwhile, he dined Thursday night with two unidentified women.

Police, leaning toward the suicide theory, said Segal recently increased his life insurance under a company policy from $25,000 to $125,000. Most policies have a clause barring payment in a suicide.

Police Inspector John L. Kinsella said: "I am inclined to think it was suicide."

However, another police source said certain elements in the case warranted a full investigation of the possibilities of homicide.

Segal, clad only in pajamas, died with a belt lopped around his neck. But a medical investigator, Dr. Leonard Di Re, said: "It did not appear that he was strangled."

On the 14th floor of the 21-story hotel, Segal's room was in violent disarray.

Segal, who lived in Orange, N.J. had a varied background as an appraiser, auctioneer, real estate broker, machinery salesman and business executive. He was president of the Action Discount Dollar Corp., a trading stamp firm with a Fifth Avenue office in Manhattan.

First Tropical Storm Brewing

MIAMI (UPI) — Three "areas of suspicion" blossomed on the hurricane maps Friday and forecasters said one in particular stood a good chance of developing into the season's first tropical storm.

Forecaster Gilbert Clark said the most critical weather pattern was an easterly wave that stretched southward from the eastern Bahamas Islands across Cuba and into the central Caribbean Sea.

It is kicking up 30 mile an hour winds in squalls and has drenched Jamaica with six inches of rain.

Gilbert said that so far, however, the system had not developed a closed circulation of counterclockwise winds, a characteristic of tropical storms. The first such storm this year will be named Alma.

Thant Leaves To See Khrush

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant flew to Moscow on Friday night for a round of private talks with Premier Khrushchev and other top Soviet officials on world problems, including the Berlin crisis and the Congo.

Thant also is expected to get the answers to two more questions: Will Khrushchev back him for a full five-year term as secretary-general and will the Soviet premier attend the U.N. General Assembly in New York?

This will be the first meeting of Thant and Khrushchev since the Burmese diplomat was chosen last November to succeed the late Dag Hammarskjold as secretary-general.

The Soviet Union finally agreed to support him to fill the vacancy, but insisted it still stood by its demands that the office of secretary-general should be replaced by a three-man executive.

Thant has wide backing for a five-year term, but the Soviet Union holds the key by use of the veto.

Ousted Official Says Aide Lied At Estes Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dismissed Agriculture Department official testified Friday he believes a former subordinate panicked and swore falsely that he was instructed to submit a whitewash report on Billie Sol Estes, Pecos, Tex., promoter.

By indirection, Emery E. Jacobs accused Thomas H. Miller of lying to save his own skin in testimony this week before the Senate Investigations subcommittee which is trying to determine whether Estes received favors from within the department in his extensive operations.

Miller testified Jacobs instructed him to return a report favorable to Estes when Miller was assigned early this year to carry out an investigation in Texas of Estes' 1961 cotton-acreage allotment deals.

Asked if he gave such instructions, Jacobs told the Senators: "I say I did not."

The flat conflict between the sworn testimony of the two men prompted Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., to observe that one is telling the truth and one is not.

Jacobs said he agreed with this assessment—which carried with it a clear implication of possible perjury action.

Jacobs denied also that he had indicated to Miller that a report favorable to Estes was desired by Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy. Jacobs insisted his instructions to Miller were to be objective and that Murphy took a similar position in discussing the matter with Jacobs.

Miller first testified Jacobs gave him to understand Murphy wanted a pro-Estes report but later backed away from this claim.

Outside the hearing, a statement denying any wrongdoing was issued by Murphy who was identified Thursday by Jacobs as the official who made the decision on Jan. 6 to rescind the department's mid-December order canceling Estes' 1961 allotments.

Murphy said he asked on July 3 to appear before the Senate committee and plans to explain his conduct in detail when he is called.

Washington And Moscow Swap Notes

U.S. Renews Parley Bid, Reds Protest Stoning Of Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States repeated Friday its invitation to the Soviet Union to discuss the powder-keg situation in Berlin. At the same time it received from Moscow a protest against the stoning of Soviet soldiers in West Berlin last Sunday.

This exchange of notes is expected to suspend diplomatic activities over Berlin for the weekend, unless new violence erupts in the city.

U.S. officials appeared confident that tension has passed a peak and that no further deterioration of the situation is to be expected—at least not for the next few days.

There are signs, some U.S. strategists believe, that Moscow has recognized it could not go much further on this collision course.

The U.S. invitation for talks was extended in a diplomatic note delivered in Moscow. The British and the French handed identical notes to the Kremlin. The Soviet protest was received by the U.S. Embassy in the Soviet capital.

The three Allied notes followed a U.S.-British-French declaration Thursday which said Soviet discontinuance of its military commandant's office in East Berlin affects neither Western rights nor Soviet responsibilities in the city.

Friday's notes restated in forceful terms the Western position that responsibility for the Berlin wall and for all the tragic events in its shadow rest solely with the Soviet Union.

It said the wall was built "in violation of international agreements and of the most elementary principles of humanity" and rejected as "singularly ironic" Soviet accusations blaming the West for the death of East Germans who tried to escape.

The Soviet note protested against the stoning of a troop bus by West Berliners last Sunday. The incident was an outgrowth of last Friday's shooting by East German police of a young refugee who was allowed to lie dying at the Communist wall.

The Soviet Union, its said, will take "necessary measures" to insure the safety of its soldiers. The note, which did not spell out what these measures would be, is under study at the State Department. No answer is expected this week.

Filipino Claims Bill Sent To JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Friday passed and sent to President Kennedy a Philippine war claims bill that had to be retrieved from the legislative junk heap earlier this session in the interest of good relations.

Passage came by voice vote.

The President said final congressional approval of the measure, which authorizes $73 million to satisfy World War II damage claims in the Philippines, was "a source of great satisfaction to me."

Actual funds for the settlement are expected to be written into an appropriations bill later in this session. Friday's measure authorized complete payment to Philippine individuals and businesses for damage to their property when U.S. forces recaptured the islands from the Japanese.

Taylor Will Inspect Defense Operations

Kennedy Jet Has Landing Gear Trouble

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — A special inspection trip of armed forces installations by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor before he takes over as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff was announced here Friday night by the White House.

Taylor, now the special military representative of President Kennedy, will assume chairmanship of the joint chiefs Oct. 1, succeeding Gen Lyman Lemnitzer.

Taylor will leave Washington Friday morning, stop overnight for what the White House described as a "rest" in Mexico City, then continue on in rapid fashion to headquarters of the Caribbean Command in the Panama Canal Zone; the Strike Command headquarters at McDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., and the Atlantic Command at Norfolk, Va.

News of the Taylor mission came amid continued reports of a build-up of "technicians" from Communist bloc countries in Cuba. Acting Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher said, however, there was no "emergency" aspect to Taylor's trip which will bring him back to Washington late next Tuesday.

Hatcher under questioning also said there was no connection between Taylor's mission and the Cuban situation.

The President arrived here late Friday to spend the weekend at his Cape Cod home and visit with his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy who is recuperating from a stroke suffered last Dec. 19. On Sunday, Kennedy planned to hop by helicopter over to Newport, R. I., for an overnight visit with his young son, John Jr. The boy who will be two years old next November, has been staying with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, while the First Lady and Caroline have been vacationing in Ravello, Italy.

Earlier, Kennedy's jetliner developed landing gear trouble as it landed at nearby Otis Air Force Base after a flight from Washington. A crew of fire fighters rushed out to the runway and stood by.

The fire fighters did not have to use an extinguisher.

Soblen's Plea Denied But Spy Takes Appeal

LONDON (AP)—Robert A. Soblen lost one more round Friday in his court fight here to evade life imprisonment as a spy in the United States, but he mapped delaying actions that may include an appeal to the White House.

If all other measures fail to secure Soblen's freedom, said Solomon Kaufman, one of the Soviet spy's legal team, he will petition the President for an amnesty.

President Kennedy was serving as a U.S. Navy officer in the Pacific at the time Soblen, 61, a Lithuanian-born psychiatrist, was smuggling American wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

A bewigged High Court judge, Justice John Stephenson, refused to free the fugitive on a writ of habeas corpus and ruled that an order by Home Secretary Henry Brooke for his deportation to the United States was valid.

Soblen's attorneys announced an appeal. It is slated for hearing in the Court of Appeal next Wednesday. If that fails, the case may go to the House of Lords, Britain's highest legal authority.

Soblen was convicted in federal court in New York last summer of wartime espionage.

With appeals to American courts finally exhausted, he jumped $100,000 bail in June and fled to Israel on a bogus passport.

Israel expelled him. On an Israeli El Al Airlines plane back to New York he stabbed himself and was landed in London for emergency treatment.

Soldiers Who Endured Red Terror Back Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two U.S. servicemen returned Friday from the Far Eastern wars where they refused to renounce America despite Communist terror that ran the gamut from "black box" confinement to death threats.

One of the men was held for a year in pitch black solitary confinement after he was captured by the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos. The other was paraded through Laotian villages like an animal with a rope tied around his neck, then placed in "stocks."

Sick and emaciated but smiling, Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey, 29, Laurel, Md., and Sgt. Orville R. Ballenger, 28, Spring Lake, N.C., arrived at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington for hospital care. They were released by the Communists last week.

On hand to greet them as they were carried from the plane on litters were the men's families and Lt. Gen. Russell L. Vittrup, deputy chief of staff for personnel.

Bailey was seized by the Communists in March, 1961, when he parachuted from a C47 transport disabled by Red ground fire. Of him the Army report said:

"Maj. Bailey, suffering from malnutrition, intestinal parasites and malaria, told Army authorities of spending a full year imprisoned in a pitch black room under heavy guard."

Ballenger was subjected to equally brutal treatment. Captured in April, 1961, he was tied with his arms close to his body and led "as though he were an animal on a leash" with a rope looped around his neck, to a place of confinement.

Russ May Be Building Cuban Missile Site

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Miami News said Friday reports from Cuba indicated recently arrived Soviet personnel were either manning a missile-rocket site or setting up a space satellite tracking station west of Havana.

President Kennedy said Wednesday his office was aware of the presence of several thousand Russians in Cuba. He identified them as technicians.

The newspaper, in a page-one story by Latin-American editor Hal Hendrix, said the Soviet establishment was reported near the port city of Bahia Honda on the north coast of Pinar del Rio Province.

Automated Press Agentry To Make D.C. Debut But What If It Should Backfire?

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now comes the robot press agent to simplify—or complicate, as only time will tell—news coverage in the nation's capital.

It may even be something the Russians haven't invented yet.

Automated press agentry makes its debut here Monday when a newsman, by dialing a phone number at the Labor Department, can hear a recorded voice tell him what's supposed to be going on in the labor field.

The department, in a memorandum Friday to Washington editors and reporters, confessed to some misgivings. It plainly labeled the innovation, fashioned by the same private concern that put Telstar in orbit, as an experiment.

That science can backfire is well known. So it might be well to explore what could happen if the experiment stimulates the imitative impulses of other government agencies.

A few minutes dialing could bring these results:

White House, male voice with Harvard accent—"Two Soviets in orbit without a rendezvous? I am proud to announce two of our nuclear submarines have had a rendezvous and kissed under the arctic ice."

Agriculture Department, embroiled in the Billie Sol Estes case—"Cotton? What's that? Anyhow it won't even grow in Texas."

Justice, where Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has been bringing the family Labrador dog to work because it was lonely—"If anyone is coming this way, bring a can of dog food for Brumus."

Food and Drug—"We are refusing to license a drug that the manufacturer claims will put you to sleep and wake you up rich. The Treasury and economic advisers are concerned about the inflationary effect."

Democratic Headquarters—"Definitely and absolutely we are going to elect 25 new House members and a dozen new senators. You can bank on it."

Republican Headquarters—"Surveys prove without a doubt we are going to take away 25 House seats and 12 Senate seats from the Democrats."

Soviets Yield After Balking At GI Escort

U.S. Convoys Move Smoothly With No Russ Retaliation

BERLIN (AP)—The Red army used armored cars again Friday for changing guards at the Soviet war memorial and grudgingly accepted an American escort after only a six-minute argument.

The U.S. Army stood firm, and there was no retaliation from the Russians as U.S. military convoys rolled unescorted over the Autobahn and Army and civilian traffic through Checkpoint Charlie moved smoothly.

Tension remained high but tempers tapered off in this Communist-described "front-line city" in the cold war. Mayor Willy Brandt appealed to West Berliners to keep calm, declaring: "The wall must go, but until it goes, the city must live."

"Battle Of Notes"

The Soviet Union protested to the United States against the recent stoning of Soviet soldiers by West Berliners and warned "necessary measures" will be taken to insure safety of Red army guards if the attacks occur again. It was after three soldiers were hurt in the stonings that Russians shifted from buses to armored cars to carry the change of the guard into West Berlin. And Berlin's traffic rules call for any armored car to be escorted.

The Kremlin protest and threat came shortly after the three Western powers in sharply worded notes directly blamed the Soviet Union for "the wall and for its consequences."

The Allies called again for four-power talks to halt "further deterioration of the situation in Berlin"—a proposal that the Russians have several times rejected.

Tension Believed Easing

In Washington, it was understood the appeal for a new meeting had again been rejected but U.S. authorities expressed belief tensions in Berlin are easing.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in Dublin declared the Allies must assert their rights and added: "Any retreat from the principle might be looked upon as a weakness and it could lead to aggression."

A Red army colonel accompanied the 18 Soviet guards to Checkpoint Charlie on Friday. He put up only token resistance to U.S. insistence on the rule that all armored vehicles — even American vehicles—must have escorts in the interest of safety and traffic order.

The Soviet soldiers in the three armored personnel carriers showed no arms Friday—complying with another U.S. order. Thursday they defied the ban and displayed tommy guns.

Russia Pours Men Into Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Russia is pouring from 3,000 to 5,000 men and military technicians into Cuba and providing the Castro regime with modern equipment, possibly including surface-to-air missiles, U.S. officials reported Friday.

Shipments of technicians and equipment have been going on for several weeks and more cargoes are en route, the officials said.

The Kennedy administration was said to be watching the situation closely and with some concern.

According to the officials, the buildup has come about rather quickly. It started in late July and apparently means the Soviet Union decided some months ago to give more support to the Fidel Castro regime as at least a semi-member of the Soviet bloc.

Laos Withdrawal Starts Next Week

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Withdrawal of foreign forces from Laos under the Geneva agreement is to start next week. Avtar Singh of India, chairman of the three-nation control commission, announced the arrangements Friday.

The first group of Communist North Vietnamese advisers and technicians who backed the Pathet Lao-neutralist cause is scheduled to leave for Hanoi on Monday. From 55 to 60 Filipinos who served as technicians with U.S. forces that supported the royal government will leave Wednesday.

Ballenger was subjected to equally brutal treatment. Captured in April, 1961, he was tied with his arms close to his body and led "as though he were an animal on a leash" with a rope looped around his neck, to a place of confinement.

Russ May Be Building Cuban Missile Site

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Miami News said Friday reports from Cuba indicated recently arrived Soviet personnel were either manning a missile-rocket site or setting up a space satellite tracking station west of Havana.

President Kennedy said Wednesday his office was aware of the presence of several thousand Russians in Cuba. He identified them as technicians.

The newspaper, in a page-one story by Latin-American editor Hal Hendrix, said the Soviet establishment was reported near the port city of Bahia Honda on the north coast of Pinar del Rio Province.

Washington And Moscow Swap Notes

U.S. Renews Parley Bid, Reds Protest Stoning Of Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States repeated Friday its invitation to the Soviet Union to discuss the powder-keg situation in Berlin. At the same time it received from Moscow a protest against the stoning of Soviet soldiers in West Berlin last Sunday.

This exchange of notes is expected to suspend diplomatic activities over Berlin for the weekend, unless new violence erupts in the city.

U.S. officials appeared confident that tension has passed a peak and that no further deterioration of the situation is to be expected—at least not for the next few days.

There are signs, some U.S. strategists believe, that Moscow has recognized it could not go much further on this collision course.

The U.S. invitation for talks was extended in a diplomatic note delivered in Moscow. The British and the French handed identical notes to the Kremlin. The Soviet protest was received by the U.S. Embassy in the Soviet capital.

The three Allied notes followed a U.S.-British-French declaration Thursday which said Soviet discontinuance of its military commandant's office in East Berlin affects neither Western rights nor Soviet responsibilities in the city.

Friday's notes restated in forceful terms the Western position that responsibility for the Berlin wall and for all the tragic events in its shadow rest solely with the Soviet Union.

It said the wall was built "in violation of international agreements and of the most elementary principles of humanity" and rejected as "singularly ironic" Soviet accusations blaming the West for the death of East Germans who tried to escape.

The Soviet note protested against the stoning of a troop bus by West Berliners last Sunday. The incident was an outgrowth of last Friday's shooting by East German police of a young refugee who was allowed to lie dying at the Communist wall.

The Soviet Union, its said, will take "necessary measures" to insure the safety of its soldiers. The note, which did not spell out what these measures would be, is under study at the State Department. No answer is expected this week.

Filipino Claims Bill Sent To JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Friday passed and sent to President Kennedy a Philippine war claims bill that had to be retrieved from the legislative junk heap earlier this session in the interest of good relations.

Passage came by voice vote.

The President said final congressional approval of the measure, which authorizes $73 million to satisfy World War II damage claims in the Philippines, was "a source of great satisfaction to me."

Actual funds for the settlement are expected to be written into an appropriations bill later in this session. Friday's measure authorized complete payment to Philippine individuals and businesses for damage to their property when U.S. forces recaptured the islands from the Japanese.

French Satellite

PARIS (AP)—France plans to launch its first space satellite in March 1965 under a timetable developed by the Cabinet this week. The capsule will weigh about 200 pounds.

Taylor Will Inspect Defense Operations

Kennedy Jet Has Landing Gear Trouble

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — A special inspection trip of armed forces installations by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor before he takes over as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff was announced here Friday night by the White House.

Taylor, now the special military representative of President Kennedy, will assume chairmanship of the joint chiefs Oct. 1, succeeding Gen Lyman Lemnitzer.

Taylor will leave Washington Friday morning, stop overnight for what the White House described as a "rest" in Mexico City, then continue on in rapid fashion to headquarters of the Caribbean Command in the Panama Canal Zone; the Strike Command headquarters at McDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., and the Atlantic Command at Norfolk, Va.

News of the Taylor mission came amid continued reports of a build-up of "technicians" from Communist bloc countries in Cuba. Acting Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher said, however, there was no "emergency" aspect to Taylor's trip which will bring him back to Washington late next Tuesday.

Hatcher under questioning also said there was no connection between Taylor's mission and the Cuban situation.

The President arrived here late Friday to spend the weekend at his Cape Cod home and visit with his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy who is recuperating from a stroke suffered last Dec. 19. On Sunday, Kennedy planned to hop by helicopter over to Newport, R. I., for an overnight visit with his young son, John Jr. The boy who will be two years old next November, has been staying with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, while the First Lady and Caroline have been vacationing in Ravello, Italy.

Earlier, Kennedy's jetliner developed landing gear trouble as it landed at nearby Otis Air Force Base after a flight from Washington. A crew of fire fighters rushed out to the runway and stood by.

The fire fighters did not have to use an extinguisher.

Soblen's Plea Denied But Spy Takes Appeal

LONDON (AP)—Robert A. Soblen lost one more round Friday in his court fight here to evade life imprisonment as a spy in the United States, but he mapped delaying actions that may include an appeal to the White House.

If all other measures fail to secure Soblen's freedom, said Solomon Kaufman, one of the Soviet spy's legal team, he will petition the President for an amnesty.

President Kennedy was serving as a U.S. Navy officer in the Pacific at the time Soblen, 61, a Lithuanian-born psychiatrist, was smuggling American wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

A bewigged High Court judge, Justice John Stephenson, refused to free the fugitive on a writ of habeas corpus and ruled that an order by Home Secretary Henry Brooke for his deportation to the United States was valid.

Soblen's attorneys announced an appeal. It is slated for hearing in the Court of Appeal next Wednesday. If that fails, the case may go to the House of Lords, Britain's highest legal authority.

Soblen was convicted in federal court in New York last summer of wartime espionage.

With appeals to American courts finally exhausted, he jumped $100,000 bail in June and fled to Israel on a bogus passport.

Israel expelled him. On an Israeli El Al Airlines plane back to New York he stabbed himself and was landed in London for emergency treatment.

Automated Press Agentry To Make D.C. Debut But What If It Should Backfire?

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now comes the robot press agent to simplify—or complicate, as only time will tell—news coverage in the nation's capital.

It may even be something the Russians haven't invented yet.

Automated press agentry makes its debut here Monday when a newsman, by dialing a phone number at the Labor Department, can hear a recorded voice tell him what's supposed to be going on in the labor field.

The department, in a memorandum Friday to Washington editors and reporters, confessed to some misgivings. It plainly labeled the innovation, fashioned by the same private concern that put Telstar in orbit, as an experiment.

That science can backfire is well known. So it might be well to explore what could happen if the experiment stimulates the imitative impulses of other government agencies.

A few minutes dialing could bring these results:

White House, male voice with Harvard accent—"Two Soviets in orbit without a rendezvous? I am proud to announce two of our nuclear submarines have had a rendezvous and kissed under the arctic ice."

Agriculture Department, embroiled in the Billie Sol Estes case—"Cotton? What's that? Anyhow it won't even grow in Texas."

Justice, where Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has been bringing the family Labrador dog to work because it was lonely—"If anyone is coming this way, bring a can of dog food for Brumus."

Food and Drug—"We are refusing to license a drug that the manufacturer claims will put you to sleep and wake you up rich. The Treasury and economic advisers are concerned about the inflationary effect."

Democratic Headquarters—"Definitely and absolutely we are going to elect 25 new House members and a dozen new senators. You can bank on it."

Republican Headquarters—"Surveys prove without a doubt we are going to take away 25 House seats and 12 Senate seats from the Democrats."

Soviets Yield After Balking At GI Escort

BERLIN (AP)—The Red army used armored cars again Friday for changing guards at the Soviet war memorial and grudgingly accepted an American escort after only a six-minute argument.

The U.S. Army stood firm, and there was no retaliation from the Russians as U.S. military convoys rolled unescorted over the Autobahn and Army and civilian traffic through Checkpoint Charlie moved smoothly.

Tension remained high but tempers tapered off in this Communist-described "front-line city" in the cold war. Mayor Willy Brandt appealed to West Berliners to keep calm, declaring: "The wall must go, but until it goes, the city must live."

"Battle Of Notes"

The Soviet Union protested to the United States against the recent stoning of Soviet soldiers by West Berliners and warned "necessary measures" will be taken to insure safety of Red army guards if the attacks occur again. It was after three soldiers were hurt in the stonings that Russians shifted from buses to armored cars to carry the change of the guard into West Berlin. And Berlin's traffic rules call for any armored car to be escorted.

The Kremlin protest and threat came shortly after the three Western powers in sharply worded notes directly blamed the Soviet Union for "the wall and for its consequences."

The Allies called again for four-power talks to halt "further deterioration of the situation in Berlin"—a proposal that the Russians have several times rejected.

Tension Believed Easing

In Washington, it was understood the appeal for a new meeting had again been rejected but U.S. authorities expressed belief tensions in Berlin are easing.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in Dublin declared the Allies must assert their rights and added: "Any retreat from the principle might be looked upon as a weakness and it could lead to aggression."

A Red army colonel accompanied the 18 Soviet guards to Checkpoint Charlie on Friday. He put up only token resistance to U.S. insistence on the rule that all armored vehicles — even American vehicles—must have escorts in the interest of safety and traffic order.

The Soviet soldiers in the three armored personnel carriers showed no arms Friday—complying with another U.S. order. Thursday they defied the ban and displayed tommy guns.

Russia Pours Men Into Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Russia is pouring from 3,000 to 5,000 men and military technicians into Cuba and providing the Castro regime with modern equipment, possibly including surface-to-air missiles, U.S. officials reported Friday.

Shipments of technicians and equipment have been going on for several weeks and more cargoes are en route, the officials said.

The Kennedy administration was said to be watching the situation closely and with some concern.

According to the officials, the buildup has come about rather quickly. It started in late July and apparently means the Soviet Union decided some months ago to give more support to the Fidel Castro regime as at least a semi-member of the Soviet bloc.

Laos Withdrawal Starts Next Week

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Withdrawal of foreign forces from Laos under the Geneva agreement is to start next week. Avtar Singh of India, chairman of the three-nation control commission, announced the arrangements Friday.

The first group of Communist North Vietnamese advisers and technicians who backed the Pathet Lao-neutralist cause is scheduled to leave for Hanoi on Monday. From 55 to 60 Filipinos who served as technicians with U.S. forces that supported the royal government will leave Wednesday.

Special Test Ban Talks By U.S. And Soviet Futile

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union told the 17-nation disarmament conference Friday their special talks on a possible nuclear test ban failed to produce any agreement.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov reported that his private meetings with U.S. Chief Delegate Arthur H. Dean "did not lead to any progress toward harmonizing the positions" of the two great nuclear powers.

Dean said the differences remained as great as ever.

The nuclear test ban issue then was referred back to the U.S.-Soviet-British subcommittee, which broke off its meetings two weeks ago in total deadlock. The subcommittee will meet Tuesday.

Friday's development further dimmed prospects for any positive results from the five-month-old conference before it recesses from Sept. 8 to Nov. 12. During this period the United Nations General Assembly will take over discussion of possible curbs on the conventional and nuclear arms races.

Dean and Kuznetsov met privately twice in a new effort to end the nuclear test ban deadlock. This stems principally from U.S. insistence on compulsory inspection to insure compliance and Soviet refusal to accept on the ground it would be disguised spying.

The new effort was undertaken on the instigation of India's Arthur Lall, a leader among the delegates from the eight neutral nations taking part in the conference. Lall argued that the two great powers actually were close to agreement and could reconcile their differences through talking them out alone.

Child Injured In Baltimore Pool Racial Scuffle

The incident happened shortly after Acting Mayor Philip H. Goodman appealed to the public to end racial tension at the pool and act "within the confines of the law."

They apparently encountered part of the white crowd before police could intervene and the scuffle ensued. Outside the park, officers used police dogs and cruisers to block the mob and prevent it from following the youngsters.

Earlier in the day, Goodman conferred with National Association for the Advancement of Colored People representatives over previous demonstrations at the pool. There were three in the past week.

Ike Ends Tour, Sails For Home

COBH, Ireland (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wound up his five-week, 2,000-mile tourist visit to Western Europe and boarded the liner America on Friday night for the voyage home. Sgt. Colman's Cathedral bells rang in farewell.

Hundreds cheered from the quayside.

Reviewing world problems at a news conference in Dublin, Eisenhower declared the Western Big Three Allies must remain in Berlin and assert their rights.

"Any retreat from the principle might be looked upon as a weakness and it could lead to aggression," said the man who commanded Western forces in Europe in World War II.

Ecuador Opposes Cuba's Market Bid

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) —Ecuador joined four other countries Friday in opposing Cuba's bid to join the Latin-American Common Market and it appeared Fidel Castro's government would be outvoted.

Argentina, Colombia, Peru and Paraguay earlier had announced their opposition to Cuba. Brazil and Chile saw no legal bars to Cuba's entry and Uruguay withheld decision.

B&O Head Supports Bill To Cut ICC Rate Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said Friday elimination of the Interstate Commerce Commission's power to control minimum rates on bulk commodities and agricultural products would not leave the agency unable to remedy discriminatory rate practices.

Jervis Langdon Jr., the carrier's chief executive, told the Senate Commerce Committee there is no basis for such fears as expressed in earlier testimony by Rupert L. Murphy, ICC chairman.

"The commission's power to prescribe nicely balanced rate structures in order to avoid discrimination has much less meaning than it used to have in the old days when railroads handled most of the traffic," Langdon said.

These historic relationships have been undermined and made academic, at least in part, by the tremendous growth of exempt and private transportation that does not pay any attention to the ICC . . ." he said.

Langdon and D. L. Manion, president of the American Short Line Railroad Association, testified in support of bill which would exempt railroads from ICC control of minimum rates when hauling bulk commodities and agricultural and fishery products now transported without regulation by water carriers and trucks.

Langdon said inland water carriers are opposed to the bills because these would endanger "the preferential position they enjoy and are, of course, desirous of protecting."

Passage of the bills, Manion said, would do much to enable the small short line railroads to compete more effectively for transportation of agricultural and bulk commodities. He said:

"Among the major areas of inequality of regulation and inequality of competitive opportunity under existing law that discriminate against the railroads are the so-called agricultural commodities exemption for motor carriers, and the bulk commodities exemption for water carriers."

Because of these exemptions, he said, the railroads now are not permitted "to play under the same rules as their competitors."

Boy Passes Real Life-Saving Test

CHEVY CHASE, Md. (AP) — A Chevy Chase boy, scheduled to take his final Red Cross life-saving test Friday, was credited with saving the life of a 7-year-old girl who was knocked unconscious when a heavy pipe rolled over her Thursday.

Montgomery County police and the girl's father, director of medical education at Washington Hospital Center, had high praise for the efforts of Richard Ulman, 15, in reviving the girl, Kathleen Curtin, after the pipe was pulled off her.

The girl appeared to have stopped breathing when Richard and his mother, Mrs. Leon Ulman, rushed from their nearby home after hearing the cries of other children.

Richard applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to restore Kathleen's breathing. This was one of the techniques he had learned during a Red Cross course on junior life saving. He took the examination on that only last week.

Dr. James A. Curtin, Kathleen's father, came out of the house as Richard was working on his daughter. He said the boy's efforts gave her an airway through which to breathe.

She had regained consciousness and was reported somewhat improved.

Dulles Airport To Be Dedicated Nov. 17-18

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dulles International Airport, hailed as the world's finest and denounced as a federal boondoggle, will be dedicated Nov. 17 and 18.

The Federal Aviation Agency, owner and operator of the huge new jet airport for the nation's capital, disclosed this Friday and predicted that regular airline service at Dulles would be under way by Nov. 30. The field is at Chantilly, Va., 27 miles west of Washington.

Bette Davis, Daughter Shaken Up In Crash

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Actress Bette Davis and her daughter, Barbara Merrill, 15, were shaken up Friday in an auto collision north of Malibu.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Davis was pulling onto Pacific Coast Highway at a motel near Zuma Beach when her car collided with a station wagon driven by Mrs. Carroll Ryan Arndt, of Malibu, who suffered cuts and bruises.

The actress continued on to her movie location and went to work, a publicist said.

Timonium Fair Opens Monday

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — A fair was in the air Friday at Timonium.

The sound of hammers and saws could be heard as carnivals assembled their rides and stands along what will be the midway when the Maryland State Fair opens Monday 11 miles north of Baltimore.

The horses have been running since Aug. 13 at Timonium's half-mile track. And the concession stand nearest the grandstand entrance, which does a big business with corn on the cob every year, was in full swing.

Out on York Road, two state troopers directed traffic.

General Manager John M. Heil trudged here and there around the grounds, overseeing a myriad of details. He's hoping for a bigger crowd than last year when the gates open Monday.

"We'd like to have 300,000," said Heil. This would be 15,000 more than last year's total attendance of 285,000, including racetrack patrons.

One of the big events opening day will be the selection of a state farm queen that evening, from among finalists from the 23 counties. The winner will be crowned a week later, on Sunday, Sept. 2, when a parade is scheduled.

New Antarctica Expedition Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's eighth "Operation Deep Freeze" begins Sunday when Rear Adm. David M. Tyree, expedition commander, takes off for California en route to Antarctica.

After eight years of winter as well as summer expeditions, life in the frozen continent is becoming almost urban.

Expedition officials pointed out to newsmen Friday that atomic power, more electric lighting, even plumbing for some buildings, will be ready for this year's expedition.

The new operation will involve about 3,600 men ashore and afloat, including civilians of the National Science Foundation.

Plane Crash Blamed On Defective Engine

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A defective left wing engine was blamed Friday for the crash of a Colombian airliner Thursday in northern Colombia.

The Taxader Airline said the crash killed 18 persons and injured nine. Four aboard escaped injury. This revised the figure from a previous announcement that 20 persons were killed and 11 injured.

Ex-Guerrilla Leaders Wield Algiers Power

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A determined group of guerrilla commanders held Algeria's central civilian authorities practically at their mercy Friday.

Troops of the guerrilla Wilaya (military zone) No. 4 exercised unchallenged power in the capital and defied Ahmed Ben Bella's ruling Political Bureau.

They censored newspapers and radio broadcasts at gunpoint, covered the city with militarist slogans and carried out arrests and seizures almost at will.

The Political Bureau had no armed support in Algiers except the small civilian police force. The guerrilla chieftains made no move to interfere with the movement of any of the seven members of the bureau, but hamstrung their administrative efforts.

The Wilaya No. 4 commanders, with a force estimated at 20,000, knew that at least three of the five other Wilayas and the 45,000-strong regular army, which is camped in the Tunisian and Moroccan border areas, were on Ben Bella's side.

They had no clear political program. But the commanders, veterans of the 7½-year rebellion against France, refused to surrender their local autonomy.

There were indications that Ben Bella's civilian rivals, who bitterly opposed the installation of the Political Bureau in Algiers only a few weeks ago, were rallying to his support. Faced with the choice of Ben Bella or anarchy, they apparently regarded the leftist leader as a lesser evil.

PRR Chairman Quizzed About ICC Merger Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — James M. Symes, board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad, testified Friday he met informally with two Interstate Commerce Commissioners to discuss a planned merger with the New York Central before a formal application was filed with the commission.

But Symes denied at an ICC hearing on the merger plan that there was anything improper about the meeting.

He said he felt there was an obligation on his part to inform the commission in advance of what the two big railroads were planning.

Symes testified under cross-examinatin by Joseph Gallagher, an attorney for the Justice Department, who said he plans to question the railroad executive again about the meeting when the hearing resumes Monday.

Gallagher said the Justice Department would have to consider the meeting closely if further evidence shows it was an ex-parte representation—where one group privately urges its point of view on a regulatory body or commissioner.

Symes said the meeting lasted less than 40 minutes and the two commissioners — who were not named—didn't indicate afterward how they felt about the merger.

"Did you get an informal expressing from the commissioners that the plan was good?" Gallagher asked.

Merger Of Seaboard, ACL Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner recommended Friday approval of the proposed merger of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The recommendation by Examiner Hyman J. Blond would provide certain safeguards for the interests of railway employes, shippers and other effected railroads in the area.

Gen. Gruenther Will Speak At Antietam

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Retired Army Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, will speak at the Antietam Battlefield Sept. 9 when a monument is dedicated to Clara Barton.

Miss Barton, a Civil War nurse who later founded the Red Cross, earned the nickname "Angel of the Battlefield" while nursing the wounded under fire at the Battle of Antietam Sept. 17, 1862.

The battle near Sharpsburg, Md., bloodiest single day of the Civil War, will be re-enacted next month as part of Maryland's Civil War Centennial observance.

The marble monument will be unveiled near the spot where the schoolmarm spinster from Massachusetts risked her life to care for the wounded of both the Union and the Confederacy.

"Any retreat from the principle might be looked upon as a weakness and it could lead to aggression," said the man who commanded Western forces in Europe in World War II.

The former president, Mrs. Eisenhower and their party took a train for the 130-mile ride southwestward from Dublin to Cork, then boarded the America at this nearby port. The liner is bound for New York.

Ecuador Opposes Cuba's Market Bid

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) —Ecuador joined four other countries Friday in opposing Cuba's bid to join the Latin-American Common Market and it appeared Fidel Castro's government would be outvoted.

Argentina, Colombia, Peru and Paraguay earlier had announced their opposition to Cuba. Brazil and Chile saw no legal bars to Cuba's entry and Uruguay withheld decision.

B&O Head Supports Bill To Cut ICC Rate Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said Friday elimination of the Interstate Commerce Commission's power to control minimum rates on bulk commodities and agricultural products would not leave the agency unable to remedy discriminatory rate practices.

Jervis Langdon Jr., the carrier's chief executive, told the Senate Commerce Committee there is no basis for such fears as expressed in earlier testimony by Rupert L. Murphy, ICC chairman.

"The commission's power to prescribe nicely balanced rate structures in order to avoid discrimination has much less meaning than it used to have in the old days when railroads handled most of the traffic," Langdon said.

These historic relationships have been undermined and made academic, at least in part, by the tremendous growth of exempt and private transportation that does not pay any attention to the ICC . . ." he said.

Langdon and D. L. Manion, president of the American Short Line Railroad Association, testified in support of bill which would exempt railroads from ICC control of minimum rates when hauling bulk commodities and agricultural and fishery products now transported without regulation by water carriers and trucks.

Langdon said inland water carriers are opposed to the bills because these would endanger "the preferential position they enjoy and are, of course, desirous of protecting."

Passage of the bills, Manion said, would do much to enable the small short line railroads to compete more effectively for transportation of agricultural and bulk commodities. He said:

"Among the major areas of inequality of regulation and inequality of competitive opportunity under existing law that discriminate against the railroads are the so-called agricultural commodities exemption for motor carriers, and the bulk commodities exemption for water carriers."

Because of these exemptions, he said, the railroads now are not permitted "to play under the same rules as their competitors."

Boy Passes Real Life-Saving Test

CHEVY CHASE, Md. (AP) — A Chevy Chase boy, scheduled to take his final Red Cross life-saving test Friday, was credited with saving the life of a 7-year-old girl who was knocked unconscious when a heavy pipe rolled over her Thursday.

Montgomery County police and the girl's father, director of medical education at Washington Hospital Center, had high praise for the efforts of Richard Ulman, 15, in reviving the girl, Kathleen Curtin, after the pipe was pulled off her.

The girl appeared to have stopped breathing when Richard and his mother, Mrs. Leon Ulman, rushed from their nearby home after hearing the cries of other children.

Richard applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to restore Kathleen's breathing. This was one of the techniques he had learned during a Red Cross course on junior life saving. He took the examination on that only last week.

Dr. James A. Curtin, Kathleen's father, came out of the house as Richard was working on his daughter. He said the boy's efforts gave her an airway through which to breathe.

She had regained consciousness and was reported somewhat improved.

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Actress Bette Davis and her daughter, Barbara Merrill, 15, were shaken up Friday in an auto collision north of Malibu.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Davis was pulling onto Pacific Coast Highway at a motel near Zuma Beach when her car collided with a station wagon driven by Mrs. Carroll Ryan Arndt, of Malibu, who suffered cuts and bruises.

The actress continued on to her movie location and went to work, a publicist said.

Timonium Fair Opens Monday

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — A fair was in the air Friday at Timonium.

The sound of hammers and saws could be heard as carnivals assembled their rides and stands along what will be the midway when the Maryland State Fair opens Monday 11 miles north of Baltimore.

The horses have been running since Aug. 13 at Timonium's half-mile track. And the concession stand nearest the grandstand entrance, which does a big business with corn on the cob every year, was in full swing.

Out on York Road, two state troopers directed traffic.

General Manager John M. Heil trudged here and there around the grounds, overseeing a myriad of details. He's hoping for a bigger crowd than last year when the gates open Monday.

"We'd like to have 300,000," said Heil. This would be 15,000 more than last year's total attendance of 285,000, including racetrack patrons.

One of the big events opening day will be the selection of a state farm queen that evening, from among finalists from the 23 counties. The winner will be crowned a week later, on Sunday, Sept. 2, when a parade is scheduled.

New Antarctica Expedition Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's eighth "Operation Deep Freeze" begins Sunday when Rear Adm. David M. Tyree, expedition commander, takes off for California en route to Antarctica.

After eight years of winter as well as summer expeditions, life in the frozen continent is becoming almost urban.

Expedition officials pointed out to newsmen Friday that atomic power, more electric lighting, even plumbing for some buildings, will be ready for this year's expedition.

The new operation will involve about 3,600 men ashore and afloat, including civilians of the National Science Foundation.

Plane Crash Blamed On Defective Engine

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A defective left wing engine was blamed Friday for the crash of a Colombian airliner Thursday in northern Colombia.

The Taxader Airline said the crash killed 18 persons and injured nine. Four aboard escaped injury. This revised the figure from a previous announcement that 20 persons were killed and 11 injured.

Ex-Guerrilla Leaders Wield Algiers Power

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A determined group of guerrilla commanders held Algeria's central civilian authorities practically at their mercy Friday.

Troops of the guerrilla Wilaya (military zone) No. 4 exercised unchallenged power in the capital and defied Ahmed Ben Bella's ruling Political Bureau.

They censored newspapers and radio broadcasts at gunpoint, covered the city with militarist slogans and carried out arrests and seizures almost at will.

The Political Bureau had no armed support in Algiers except the small civilian police force. The guerrilla chieftains made no move to interfere with the movement of any of the seven members of the bureau, but hamstrung their administrative efforts.

The Wilaya No. 4 commanders, with a force estimated at 20,000, knew that at least three of the five other Wilayas and the 45,000-strong regular army, which is camped in the Tunisian and Moroccan border areas, were on Ben Bella's side.

They had no clear political program. But the commanders, veterans of the 7½-year rebellion against France, refused to surrender their local autonomy.

There were indications that Ben Bella's civilian rivals, who bitterly opposed the installation of the Political Bureau in Algiers only a few weeks ago, were rallying to his support. Faced with the choice of Ben Bella or anarchy, they apparently regarded the leftist leader as a lesser evil.

PRR Chairman Quizzed About ICC Merger Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — James M. Symes, board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad, testified Friday he met informally with two Interstate Commerce Commissioners to discuss a planned merger with the New York Central before a formal application was filed with the commission.

But Symes denied at an ICC hearing on the merger plan that there was anything improper about the meeting.

He said he felt there was an obligation on his part to inform the commission in advance of what the two big railroads were planning.

Symes testified under cross-examinatin by Joseph Gallagher, an attorney for the Justice Department, who said he plans to question the railroad executive again about the meeting when the hearing resumes Monday.

Gallagher said the Justice Department would have to consider the meeting closely if further evidence shows it was an ex-parte representation—where one group privately urges its point of view on a regulatory body or commissioner.

Symes said the meeting lasted less than 40 minutes and the two commissioners — who were not named—didn't indicate afterward how they felt about the merger.

"Did you get an informal expressing from the commissioners that the plan was good?" Gallagher asked.

Merger Of Seaboard, ACL Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner recommended Friday approval of the proposed merger of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The recommendation by Examiner Hyman J. Blond would provide certain safeguards for the interests of railway employes, shippers and other effected railroads in the area.

Gen. Gruenther Will Speak At Antietam

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Retired Army Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, will speak at the Antietam Battlefield Sept. 9 when a monument is dedicated to Clara Barton.

Miss Barton, a Civil War nurse who later founded the Red Cross, earned the nickname "Angel of the Battlefield" while nursing the wounded under fire at the Battle of Antietam Sept. 17, 1862.

The battle near Sharpsburg, Md., bloodiest single day of the Civil War, will be re-enacted next month as part of Maryland's Civil War Centennial observance.

The marble monument will be unveiled near the spot where the schoolmarm spinster from Massachusetts risked her life to care for the wounded of both the Union and the Confederacy.

FSTC Budget Bid Includes Fund For Science Building

A budget request for $2,269,500 for expanding Frostburg State Teachers College under the State Department of Education's five-year master plan includes funds for a new science building and a men's dormitory in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the college, said a new concept in housing is also contained in the requests presented for approval by Gov. Tawes, who in turn presents the program to the General Assembly.

Among the items in Frostburg's list is $5,000 for planning a women's dormitory to house 500 students. Previously, all the residence halls at FSTC have been for 90 or 100 students.

The buildings have been designed for 91 students, but an additional nine or 10 are squeezed into them.

Hardesty pointed out that this year there will be 350 students living in private homes in Frostburg, with another 100 crowded into the dorms above their planned capacities.

This concept of large dormitories moving away from the small residence hall way of thinking is necessitated by the rapid growth of the college and its enrollment, he explained.

The major budget request for the fiscal year 1963-64 is $1,500,000 for a new science building.

Also listed is $488,000 for a 91-student men's residence hall.

Two items are for equipping buildings scheduled to get under construction this year. They are the new library building and the women's residence hall, for which the General Assembly appropriated construction funds this spring.

For the dormitory, $23,800 is asked and for the library, $120,000. The budget requests include $1,500 for remodeling the present library in the basement of Lowndes Hall into administrative offices such as are on the first floor of the hall.

A look into the future finds $5,000 being asked for planning a fine arts building housing facilities for art, music and speech; $5,000 for a classroom building.

The State Department of Education is seeking $150,000 for the relocation of the athletic field and for further expansion of the college's athletic facilities, while another $100,000 is requested for purchase of additional land.

Another $15,000 is asked for the repair of wiring and other work in Frost Hall and $4,000 for retubing two boilers and replacing a 1,600-gallon water heater in Allegany Hall.

Action was taken yesterday upon receipt of a letter from Woodward Pealer of the CUF organization in which he pointed out that the scope of the fund has increased and requesting the additional money.

County Schools Ready For Opening

Summer time is the time for getting the schools back into first class operating order for the 185 days that they are in session.

This summer, the maintenance forces headed by Joseph Downey, Allegany County Board of Education's supervisor of maintenance, have chalked up quite a few accomplishments.

One of the projects completed was adding more classrooms at Allegany High School, which is packed to the seams this year. This was done by placing partitions in several large classrooms so that two classrooms were made out of them.
Mt. Royal School to provide an additional classroom. There the kitchen was partitioned off from the cafeteria room.

The cafeteria room became a classroom and the auditorium was equipped to be a cafeteria. Downey calls it a "cafetorium," a multi-purpose room where the dining tables are the fold-up and roll-away type.

Pass-through windows were made through the wall from the kitchen to the basement corridor, and from the kitchen to the "cafetorium."

Another interior structural change was handled at the administration building on Washington Street. The large single office room used by three supervisors was partitioned and paneled into three individual offices.

These new spaces go to the former communal occupants of the room, Miss Ruth McColly, home economics supervisor; J. Hubert Radcliffe, bus transportation supervisor, and J. D. Lonnholm, vocational, industrial and adult education supervisor.

Paving work was also completed during the summer. A new blacktop parking lot is at Oldtown School. Blacktop roadway and a play area were put down at Cresaptown School, and a blacktop play area at Hill Street School.

The fencing of the Pennsylvania Avenue School playground was completed. Prior to this summer, only half of it was contained by a fence.

Boilers were re-tubed, a major overhaul, at Fort Hill High School and Mt. Royal School.

Outside doors were renewed on several schools.

The exteriors of Columbia Street, East Side and Ellerslie schools were painted as were several buildings at Flintstone.

The interiors of county schools are painted every seven years under an annual rotating schedule. This summer the scheduled number were re-painted.

Bids were opened this week for a new 296-foot long sidewalk on Conrad Avenue adjacent to Gephart School.

Army Reserve Training Set

According to Lt. Leo C. Brannon Jr., Unit training officer of the 265th Ordnance Company, Army Reserve Training Center, Cresaptown, the local unit will begin a new training program soon, in accordance with President Kennedy's plan to develop the Reserve Components of the nation to the highest possible state of readiness.

The new program will train the reserves in both ordnance and infantry skills. In the latter capacity, they must have knowledge of repairs and replacement parts ranging from the Army's new M-14 rifle to the latest developments in the missile field as well as all types of military vehicles.

The new training program calls for a multiple training assembly to be held one Sunday each month in addition to two regular Thursday night assemblies. The new program makes possible a greater variety of field training activities which were not possible under the old system of weekly two-hour training periods.

Young men in the Cumberland area, feeling they can qualify for the Army reserve, may receive more information by calling or visiting the reserve center, Route 220 South, Cresaptown.

Pittsburgh Man Killed In Crash

BEDFORD, Pa. (UPI)—Sidney Kotler, 38, of 1517 Denniston Ave., Pittsburgh, was killed yesterday in a three-truck accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Everett.

State police said the mishap occurred when a set of wheels tore loose from the trailer of a rig operated by Robert Watson, 23, Summit, N.J., and rolled across the median. The wheels struck a tractor-trailer operated by Donald Starcher, 37, Canton, Ohio. Starcher's rig then swung across the median and collided with Kotler's rig, which had been behind the vehicle operated by Watson.

Starcher and his son, Darrell, 14, were injured. They were reported in satisfactory condition at Bedford Memorial Hospital. Watson was not injured.

City Police Commended

Capt. W. W. Corbin, commander of State Police Troop B, has written Police Chief B. F. Gaffney commending the city policemen who participated in the search Monday for a man who wounded a state policeman and then hid out on Sideling Hill near Hancock.

Capt. Corbin's letter, in part, follows:

"The performance of your men was exemplary, especially in view of the danger from an armed and hidden criminal, and great personal discomfort caused by the extremely high temperature (100)."

Lawrence S. Johns, 28, of Altoona, Pa., who wounded State Police Cpl. Robert K. Kirby, a native of Eckhart, killed himself when cornered Monday afternoon.

Cpl. Kirby was shot by Johns after the trooper had placed two accomplices under arrest for looting a roadside pay telephone. The accomplices are being held in Hagerstown on state and federal charges.

ABL Supervisor Plans To Retire

Charles C. (Chuck) Wiant, 901 Edgewood Drive, will retire September 1 from Allegany Ballistic Laboratory, where he is supervisor of property control. He has been employed at ABL 16 years.

A native of Linn, W. Va., Wiant started work at the rocket facility in 1946 as a receiving clerk. He was promoted to the supervisor post in 1951. Prior to his ABL work, Wiant was an inspector for the Army's Ordnance Department.

Wiant is an Air Corps veteran of World War I, and served in the Maryland State Guard during World War II.

New Juvenile Quarters Ready

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday were notified that the new detention quarters, which has been erected as an addition to the County Infirmary, is ready for acceptance as only a few minor items such as painting remain undone.

The detention quarters will be used to house juveniles who are awaiting court action or placement in foster homes. It is hoped to place the new building in use early next month.

County CUF Grant Increased

An additional $400 will be given to the County United Fund this year by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Action was taken yesterday upon receipt of a letter from Woodward Pealer of the CUF organization in which he pointed out that the scope of the fund has increased and requesting the additional money.

County Schools Ready For Opening

Summer time is the time for getting the schools back into first class operating order for the 185 days that they are in session.

This summer, the maintenance forces headed by Joseph Downey, Allegany County Board of Education's supervisor of maintenance, have chalked up quite a few accomplishments.

One of the projects completed was adding more classrooms at Allegany High School, which is packed to the seams this year. This was done by placing partitions in several large classrooms so that two classrooms were made out of them.

Mt. Royal School to provide an additional classroom. There the kitchen was partitioned off from the cafeteria room.

The cafeteria room became a classroom and the auditorium was equipped to be a cafeteria. Downey calls it a "cafetorium," a multi-purpose room where the dining tables are the fold-up and roll-away type.

Pass-through windows were made through the wall from the kitchen to the basement corridor, and from the kitchen to the "cafetorium."

Another interior structural change was handled at the administration building on Washington Street. The large single office room used by three supervisors was partitioned and paneled into three individual offices.

These new spaces go to the former communal occupants of the room, Miss Ruth McColly, home economics supervisor; J. Hubert Radcliffe, bus transportation supervisor, and J. D. Lonnholm, vocational, industrial and adult education supervisor.

Paving work was also completed during the summer. A new blacktop parking lot is at Oldtown School. Blacktop roadway and a play area were put down at Cresaptown School, and a blacktop play area at Hill Street School.

The fencing of the Pennsylvania Avenue School playground was completed. Prior to this summer, only half of it was contained by a fence.

Boilers were re-tubed, a major overhaul, at Fort Hill High School and Mt. Royal School.

Outside door. were renewed on several schools.

The exteriors of Columbia Street, East Side and Ellerslie schools were painted as were several buildings at Flintstone.

The interiors of county schools are painted every seven years under an annual rotating schedule. This summer the scheduled number were re-painted.

Bids were opened this week for a new 296-foot long sidewalk on Conrad Avenue adjacent to Gephart School.

Army Reserve Training Set

According to Lt. Leo C. Brannon Jr., Unit training officer of the 265th Ordnance Company, Army Reserve Training Center, Cresaptown, the local unit will begin a new training program soon, in accordance with President Kennedy's plan to develop the Reserve Components of the nation to the highest possible state of readiness.

The new program will train the reserves in both ordnance and infantry skills. In the latter capacity, they must have knowledge of repairs and replacement parts ranging from the Army's new M-14 rifle to the latest developments in the missile field as well as all types of military vehicles.

The new training program calls for a multiple training assembly to be held one Sunday each month in addition to two regular Thursday night assemblies. The new program makes possible a greater variety of field training activities which were not possible under the old system of weekly two-hour training periods.

Young men in the Cumberland area, feeling they can qualify for the Army reserve, may receive more information by calling or visiting the reserve center, Route 220 South, Cresaptown.

Pittsburgh Man Killed In Crash

BEDFORD, Pa. (UPI)—Sidney Kotler, 38, of 1517 Denniston Ave., Pittsburgh, was killed yesterday in a three-truck accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Everett.

State police said the mishap occurred when a set of wheels tore loose from the trailer of a rig operated by Robert Watson, 23, Summit, N.J., and rolled across the median. The wheels struck a tractor-trailer operated by Donald Starcher, 37, Canton, Ohio. Starcher's rig then swung across the median and collided with Kotler's rig, which had been behind the vehicle operated by Watson.

Starcher and his son, Darrell, 14, were injured. They were reported in satisfactory condition at Bedford Memorial Hospital. Watson was not injured.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The ability to see the funny side of life can be a more valuable possession than a famous star's beauty!

A Sense Of Humor Is No Joking Matter

What is a sense of humor? It is simpler to explain what a sense of humor is not. It certainly is not the ability to make people laugh at parties by jumping about with a lampshade on your head. Any boob can get a laugh that way, just as any child can convulse his playmates by squirting one of them with a water pistol. This latter example of humor is funny to everyone except the dripping butt of the joke, and the wielder of the water pistol would better be on his guard from that moment on. He will surely need a sense of humor a little later, when the joke is played on himself.

I have on my bookshelf a century-old volume of "etiquette" which states: "As to a mimic or a wag, he is little less than a buffoon, who will distort his mouth and his eyes to make people laugh. Be assured that no one person ever demeaned himself to please the rest, unless he wishes to be thought the Merry Andrew of this company; and whether this character is respectable I will leave you to judge." I don't believe even the last hundred years has changed that!

Nor is a sense of humor merely the superficial ability to remember and repeat the latest gag from Broadway and Hollywood. Even though you may not be able to remember the point of a joke, you may still possess a deep, genuine sense of humor. In my opinion, if you are able to see the funny side of a serious happening even though you yourself may be discomfited momentarily you have a sense of humor, and will be respected and liked for it. You will be surprised how the ability to laugh at your troubles, either factual or fancied, will minimize those troubles.

To quote Irvin S. Cobb, one of the greatest humorists of them all: "If you can't laugh at yourself you have no sense of humor."

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: On account of you I will probably be an old maid. You said in your column last year that a girl should not go out with a boy unless he meets her folks.

Well, my mother read that and she said, "Next year when you are old enough to date remember this rule. It's a good one."

Last Saturday afternoon a fellow asked me for my first date. We were at the beach and this real handsome kid came over and invited me to meet him at the movies that night. I said I'd love to but I couldn't go out with a fellow unless my folks met him first. When I invited him to the house, he looked and me as if I were nuts. Then he said, "I'm not about to go through an inspection. Forget it."

I've seen him twice since. He says "Hi" and keeps walking.

I am just heartsick that I lost this chance. Please change your advice.—DATELESS

DEAR DATELESS: You lost nothing. If the fellow was the right kind he'd have been happy to pick you up at your home as a gentleman should.

Stick to this rule and you'll never regret it. It's an excellent way to separate the nice guys from the creeps.

DEAR ANN: I am 22, married almost 3 years, and I have two small children. My husband says I am lazy because I sleep until 11 a.m. or noon. How can I get it through his head that I don't sleep at night because he snores, grinds his teeth, throws his arms and legs over me and hogs the blankets?

After tossing and turning all night I have to get out of bed at 7:30 a.m. and fix him breakfast and feed the children. When he leaves at 8:30, I put the children back in bed with toys to amuse them and I sleep another two or three hours. I've tried staying up from 7:30 on but I'm just about dead the rest of the day.

Don't suggest twin beds. My husband's motto is "The marriage that sleeps together stays together." Please help me. —ADELLE

DEAR ADELLE: Your husband's motto is fine, except you are not sleeping together. He may be sleeping, but you are up all night.

Twin bed with a single headboard could solve the problem. If he refuses to sail for this, go back to bed in the morning after he leaves and get your rest. And ignore his remarks.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14 years old. A neighbor asked if I would like to baby-sit for her every Saturday night. I agreed. She pays me $2.50 for the evening.

Now that I have this job my mother says I will not be getting my allowance anymore. She claims a person who earns money should not get an allowance. This doesn't seem fair. What do you think?—DISPLEASED

DEAR DISPLEASED: A person who earns a little baby-sitting money should not be penalized by having her allowance cut off. (I assume you're doing something for your allowance besides breathing.)

Tell your Mom you'd like to start a savings account with your sitting money and keep it separate from your allowance.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Women Of Moose Discuss Membership

Procuring new members was the principal topic of discussion at the meeting of Chapter 914, Women of the Moose, held Thursday evening at the Moose home. Various suggestions were made and a membership drive was planned.

Mrs. Nellie Skidmore presided at the business session. She announced that she has received instructions from the organization headquarters in regard to committee reports.

The Women of the Moose conference being held in conjunction with the Maryland Delaware and District of Columbia Moose Association in Frederick this weekend, was discussed. At that time Mrs. Zola Kenney, grand recorder from Mooseheart, Ill., will make her official visit.

Routine business was conducted.

The next business session will be held September 14. It will be followed by a social hour.

School Committee Reports

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Back to school, your youngster will be exposed to internal and external tests.

The internal ones measure whether he's mastered his lessons. They originate within the school. Usually, his teacher makes them up.

The external ones, compiled outside the school, measure intelligence quotient, ability to learn and scholastic achievement.

The scores on these external standardized tests help, to determine whether your child rates a scholarship or college entrance.

How good are these standardized tests? And are they fair? Is it right to place so much stock in the results?

These questions among others were considered earlier this year by a joint committee of the American Association of School Administrators, the Council of Chief State School Officers, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

—Function limited. The tests measure the quantity of knowledge, not the quality. They measure only the student's knowledge in a narrow area.

—Tests can't measure innate intelligence. That's why "only recently educators stopped referring to certain widely-used tests as 'intelligence' tests and began calling them, properly, 'scholastic aptitude tests'."

—Too narrow. Tests leave out a range of students who do not fit the test pattern, such as the culturally deprived children whose "different" background isn't provided for in the tests. Another of the group the tests can't reach is made up of creative students whose talent goes beyond giving just the one, correct, right answer demanded by the test.

— Too Little Understood. The tests are not infallible. No standardized instrument can measure traits not susceptible to quantification; yet, scores made on these tests are critical for many pupils and their families. They often determine what the future holds.

—Too influential. For scholarships and college entrance, what is tested becomes of overwhelming importance, and what is not tested becomes unimportant. Some teachers, therefore base their teaching on the tests. It is a serious mistake to think of the secondary school as nothing more than a training ground for college and university students.

The committee noted that such emphasis fails to take into account the fact that graduation from high school is the end of formal education for many students.

The tendency of the tests, then, is to downgrade the non-academic part of the curriculum and can easily lead to imbalance in schools.

The committee recommended that school administrators evaluate each test before recommending its adoption; that using scores on a single test as a measure of the educational quality be stopped that scholarship tests be administered without charge; that students be given the option to refuse to take external scholarship tests; that scores not be used to compare students, schools or states; and that tax-supported scholarships be provided in non-academic fields, too.

School Committee Reports

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Back to school, your youngster will be exposed to internal and external tests.

The internal ones measure whether he's mastered his lessons. They originate within the school. Usually, his teacher makes them up.

The external ones, compiled outside the school, measure intelligence quotient, ability to learn and scholastic achievement.

The scores on these external standardized tests help, to determine whether your child rates a scholarship or college entrance.

How good are these standardized tests? And are they fair? Is it right to place so much stock in the results?

These questions among others were considered earlier this year by a joint committee of the American Association of School Administrators, the Council of Chief State School Officers, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

—Function limited. The tests measure the quantity of knowledge, not the quality. They measure only the student's knowledge in a narrow area.

—Tests can't measure innate intelligence. That's why "only recently educators stopped referring to certain widely-used tests as 'intelligence' tests and began calling them, properly, 'scholastic aptitude tests'."

—Too narrow. Tests leave out a range of students who do not fit the test pattern, such as the culturally deprived children whose "different" background isn't provided for in the tests. Another of the group the tests can't reach is made up of creative students whose talent goes beyond giving just the one, correct, right answer demanded by the test.

— Too Little Understood. The tests are not infallible. No standardized instrument can measure traits not susceptible to quantification; yet, scores made on these tests are critical for many pupils and their families. They often determine what the future holds.

—Too influential. For scholarships and college entrance, what is tested becomes of overwhelming importance, and what is not tested becomes unimportant. Some teachers, therefore base their teaching on the tests. It is a serious mistake to think of the secondary school as nothing more than a training ground for college and university students.

The committee noted that such emphasis fails to take into account the fact that graduation from high school is the end of formal education for many students.

The tendency of the tests, then, is to downgrade the non-academic part of the curriculum and can easily lead to imbalance in schools.

The committee recommended that school administrators evaluate each test before recommending its adoption; that using scores on a single test as a measure of the educational quality be stopped that scholarship tests be administered without charge; that students be given the option to refuse to take external scholarship tests; that scores not be used to compare students, schools or states; and that tax-supported scholarships be provided in non-academic fields, too.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The ability to see the funny side of life can be a more valuable possession than a famous star's beauty!

A Sense Of Humor Is No Joking Matter

What is a sense of humor? It is simpler to explain what a sense of humor is not. It certainly is not the ability to make people laugh at parties by jumping about with a lampshade on your head. Any boob can get a laugh that way, just as any child can convulse his playmates by squirting one of them with a water pistol. This latter example of humor is funny to everyone except the dripping butt of the joke, and the wielder of the water pistol would better be on his guard from that moment on. He will surely need a sense of humor a little later, when the joke is played on himself.

I have on my bookshelf a century-old volume of "etiquette" which states: "As to a mimic or a wag, he is little less than a buffoon, who will distort his mouth and his eyes to make people laugh. Be assured that no one person ever demeaned himself to please the rest, unless he wishes to be thought the Merry Andrew of this company; and whether this character is respectable I will leave you to judge." I don't believe even the last hundred years has changed that!

Nor is a sense of humor merely the superficial ability to remember and repeat the latest gag from Broadway and Hollywood. Even though you may not be able to remember the point of a joke, you may still possess a deep, genuine sense of humor. In my opinion, if you are able to see the funny side of a serious happening even though you yourself may be discomfited momentarily you have a sense of humor, and will be respected and liked for it. You will be surprised how the ability to laugh at your troubles, either factual or fancied, will minimize those troubles.

To quote Irvin S. Cobb, one of the greatest humorists of them all: "If you can't laugh at yourself you have no sense of humor."

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: On account of you I will probably be an old maid. You said in your column last year that a girl should not go out with a boy unless he meets her folks.

Well, my mother read that and she said, "Next year when you are old enough to date remember this rule. It's a good one."

Last Saturday afternoon a fellow asked me for my first date. We were at the beach and this real handsome kid came over and invited me to meet him at the movies that night. I said I'd love to but I couldn't go out with a fellow unless my folks met him first. When I invited him to the house, he looked and me as if I were nuts. Then he said, "I'm not about to go through an inspection. Forget it."

I've seen him twice since. He says "Hi" and keeps walking.

I am just heartsick that I lost this chance. Please change your advice.—DATELESS

DEAR DATELESS: You lost nothing. If the fellow was the right kind he'd have been happy to pick you up at your home as a gentleman should.

Stick to this rule and you'll never regret it. It's an excellent way to separate the nice guys from the creeps.

DEAR ANN: I am 22, married almost 3 years, and I have two small children. My husband says I am lazy because I sleep until 11 a.m. or noon. How can I get it through his head that I don't sleep at night because he snores, grinds his teeth, throws his arms and legs over me and hogs the blankets?

After tossing and turning all night I have to get out of bed at 7:30 a.m. and fix him breakfast and feed the children. When he leaves at 8:30, I put the children back in bed with toys to amuse them and I sleep another two or three hours. I've tried staying up from 7:30 on but I'm just about dead the rest of the day.

Don't suggest twin beds. My husband's motto is "The marriage that sleeps together stays together." Please help me. —ADELLE

DEAR ADELLE: Your husband's motto is fine, except you are not sleeping together. He may be sleeping, but you are up all night.

Twin bed with a single headboard could solve the problem. If he refuses to sail for this, go back to bed in the morning after he leaves and get your rest. And ignore his remarks.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14 years old. A neighbor asked if I would like to baby-sit for her every Saturday night. I agreed. She pays me $2.50 for the evening.

Now that I have this job my mother says I will not be getting my allowance anymore. She claims a person who earns money should not get an allowance. This doesn't seem fair. What do you think?—DISPLEASED

DEAR DISPLEASED: A person who earns a little baby-sitting money should not be penalized by having her allowance cut off. (I assume you're doing something for your allowance besides breathing.)

Tell your Mom you'd like to start a savings account with your sitting money and keep it separate from your allowance.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SHARING

Sharing isn't one of those things that come naturally. It takes a fair bit of "character building" before two youngsters get to the point where they're happy to go fifty-fifty on so much as a bottle of pop!

Fred and Marilyn, as it happens, have learned a lot about sharing in church. For, many years ago, Christ clearly demonstrated that man should be neither selfish nor greedy, and that to live successfully he must learn to give not only of himself, but of his possessions.

In a small, childlike, but completely joyous way, Fred and Marilyn are putting these teachings into practice — just as in many more serious ways, they will be putting other teachings of the Church into use, throughout their lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SHARING

Sharing isn't one of those things that come naturally. It takes a fair bit of "character building" before two youngsters get to the point where they're happy to go fifty-fifty on so much as a bottle of pop!

Fred and Marilyn, as it happens, have learned a lot about sharing in church. For, many years ago, Christ clearly demonstrated that man should be neither selfish nor greedy, and that to live successfully he must learn to give not only of himself, but of his possessions.

In a small, childlike, but completely joyous way, Fred and Marilyn are putting these teachings into practice — just as in many more serious ways, they will be putting other teachings of the Church into use, throughout their lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

West Virginia Adopts Uniform Salary Scales

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Civil Service Commission unveiled Friday a new job classification and pay-scale plan that will provide more uniform salaries for many of the state's 3,980 merit system employes.

The number of job classifications will be reduced from about 700 to 300 and most workers will get "generally slight increases" in pay when the plan goes into effect.

Civil Service Director W. B. Van Horn and two of the three Civil Service Commission members said at a news conference that the plan can be placed in effect only after formal approval is given by the governor and the 1963 Legislature provides the necessary funds.

Van Horn and commission members Luther R. Jones, Madison, and Paul Friedberg, Charleston, said it was impossible to estimate at this time how much implementation of the plan will cost.

They emphasized that no present employes will receive a pay cut under the plan, although their successor or replacement might.

All or most employes in nine departments will be covered by the plan—Welfare, Civil Defense, Natural Resources, Tax, Employment Security, Health, Vocation Rehabilitation, Mental Health and Public Service Commission.

Van Horn said about 900 technical employes of the Road Commission also may be placed under the Civil Service system as a result of a survey now being conducted at the request of Gov. W. W. Barron.

In directing that the new plan be prepared, the Legislature had in mind to end discrepancies in rules governing employes doing the same work, or being paid different salaries for about the same work.

For example, Van Horn said, accountants' pay ranges from $270 to $325 a month while the difference in secretarial pay for the same work and the same experience is as much as $75.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

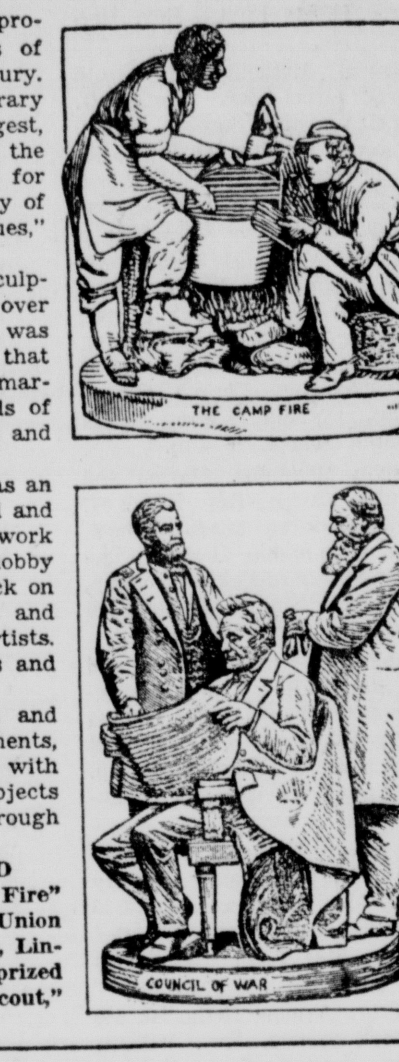
No. 160 "Rogers Groups: Plaster statuary reproducing the excellent genre sculptures of John Rogers, American, dating from mid-19th century. The complete listing of Rogers groups with contemporary illustrations of many will be found in Antiques Digest, compiled by Earl Breeding, an attorney working with the firm founded by Henry L. Stimson, who once posed for John Rogers." This description of an appealing variety of Americana is given in "Dictionary of American Antiques," by Carl Drepperd [pub. by Doubleday].

John Rogers, a social historian whose medium was sculpture, was launched in popularity and fame by the war over slavery. His miniature group, "The Slave Auction," was exploited in 1860 by the abolitionists with the result that thousands of casts were sold. Rogers cultivated the market thus opened to him with a succession of symbols of popular sentiment that were given places on mantels and tables in homes throughout the North.

Born in Salem, Mass., in 1829, Rogers was trained as an engineer and therefore had a cultivated eye for detail and good proportion. When forced by failing vision to work with his hands, he took up modeling in clay as a hobby and found a market for his works. He turned his back on Biblical, Greco-Roman mythological, German heroic and abstract themes which dominated the work of other artists. His themes were realistic; he recorded the tragedies and heroisms of the American contemporary scene.

Inasmuch as he looked at life as average men and women around him did in their more conscious moments, Rogers' statuettes mirrored feelings many regarded with pride. Copies of one or more of Rogers' 80-odd subjects were enshrined in countless homes from the Sixties through the Nineties.

—CLARK KINNAIRD



Right: Two much sought Rogers Groups: "The Camp Fire" (above), representing a Negro servant as cook for a Union soldier, and "Council of War," with images of Grant, Lincoln and Secretary of War Stanton in 1864. Other prized Rogers' Civil War subjects were "The Wounded Scout," "One More Shot" and "Going to the Minister."

Pediatricians Urged To Consider Emotional Ills

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Pediatricians and even general practitioners were urged Friday to take a more active part in helping with emotional problems of children—rather than leaving them to the psychiatric specialist.

"The responsibility of the pediatrician — the medical guardian of the child — is a total one, total in the sense that every facet of the child's development should be taken into consideration," Dr. James G. Hughes said.

Hughes, of the University of Tennessee medical school, spoke at a meeting of the West Virginia Pediatric Society, one of several section meetings held as part of the 95th annual state Medical Association convention.

He said the fundamental objective of pediatrics is "to guide the child safely and happily through childhood," and this implies health supervision of all aspects of the child's development, of which disease is only a temporary episode.

"How the child feels and acts should be evaluated as carefully as the disease he bears," Hughes said. "The majority of us are so preoccupied with treatment of childhood diseases that we lose sight of the child himself."

While doctors are not uninterested in "the subtleties of the spirit," they avoid problems of emotional origin, or manage them in a perfunctory manner, largely because "they either think they do not have the time to go into them fully or they feel incapable of handling them effectively," he said.

Hughes said the old impression that only specialists in child psychiatry should handle such problems — while other "without formal training had no business meddling in matters so complicated and esoteric" — has "fortunately been changed greatly."

Policeman's Burglary Trial Nears End

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — The burglary trial of Bluefield patrolman Theodore Land is expected to go to the jury about noontime Saturday following closing statements by the defense and state.

Each side has been allowed 1½ hours for the statements.

The defense rested its case shortly before noon Friday, while Land, under cross examination, denied that he and former Bluefield police Lt. Charles Fox were such good friends they were called "the gold dust twins."

Mercer County Criminal Court Judge Howard M. Jarrett presented instructions to the four women and eight men jurors before the adjournment Friday after a conference with attorneys for both sides.

During the cross examination by Prosecutor W. O. Bivens, Land continued to deny the suggestion he and Fox were good friends and that the two policemen were accomplices in the burglary of a Bluefield auto agency in September, 1950, for which Land is charged, and nearly 20 other crimes.

During the afternoon, the state recalled Sgt. Richard Lambert who previously had appeared for the defense. He said he considered Fox and Land good friends.

He said he operated a cruiser at the time of the 1950 burglary and a number of times picked up Land from his beat at about midnight and took him back to the station where Fox and Land would go to lunch together.

Under cross examination, he said he also picked up other patrolmen sometimes as he did Land and one of them would sometimes go to lunch with Fox.

Fox has maintained he and Land committed the $1,200 burglary of the Freeman - Crowder auto agency during one of the lunch breaks.

Land admitted going with Fox to a restaurant to eat the night of the burglary but said it was "our general practice."

Also Friday, defense attorney Jerome Katz questioned Land further about circumstances of his arrest and subsequent interrogation last June 28. Improper procedures have been alleged by the defense. Attorney Joseph M. Sanders Jr., Bluefield, also testified in connection with the arrest.

Sgt. Eugene Kirk is scheduled to go on trial Monday. He is the second of seven Bluefield policemen charged with a series of burglaries and break-ins slated to be tried.

Prison Warden Issues Rules

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — Moundsville Penitentiary Warden Otto C. Boles said he has taken steps to insure that Paul Hankish, Wheeling, serving a term for a Fairmont supermarket break - in, will not have any more visits from known underworld figures.

Boles acknowledged that an underworld character known as Al Zeid, or Al Seid, of New Kensington, Pa., was inadvertently allowed to talk with Hankish some time ago. But he said it wouldn't happen again.

The visit occurred, Boles said, when Zeid accompanied former heavyweight boxer Billy Conn to the penitentiary where Conn met with Boles to discuss fighters and referee assignments in the prison's boxing program. Boles did not know who Zeid was at the time.

During the meeting, Conn mentioned he had been a personal friend of Hankish and Boles granted him a visit with the Wheeling man. They visited Hankish a few minutes and left, Boles said, adding there would be no restrictions against Conn if he should make any future visits. "Jack Dempsey visited here before, too," he noted.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Lucky the glamor girl showman Joe Levine smiles on careerwise. Sultry Israeli actress Ziva Rodann tan take a bow that Joe has signed her on a three picture deal. She kicks off with real star treatment in her first, "Young Girls of Good Families" which starts in the south of France in mid-September.

"Can you imagine anything nicer than heading for the French Riviera this time of year?" Ziva interrupted her packing to ask. "It's an amusing story about girls of good families getting embroiled in summer romances and I get to wear lovely clothes."

She also told me that Pierre Mantazel is the male lead. I never heard of him but Ziva says he's a top European actor.

And now Julie admits, between scenes on "Three On a Match" at U-I, that she, too, is heading for Europe when she completes the Kirk Douglas movie.

If you ask me, I have my private opinions about Mr. Hamilton being in a marrying frame of mind. Even with a big house he bought in Beverly Hills when he was engaged to Susan Kohner. George strikes me as a young man who intends to get around before settling down. Girls, beware.

Speaking of playing the field, —Ann-Margret's doing all right. The day I returned to my desk, I had three cafe tips that the Swedish singer had been out dining, each time with a different escort.

I sometimes wonder how she finds time to work in "Bye Bye Birdie" at Columbia. Plus moving into the new home she has bought her parents in Benedict Canyon. She tells me, "The nice thing about the house is that our Yorkshire terrier Scubie can have the run of the place. When we lived in an apartment, the manager made us board out Scubie at a kennel — and after we got the first week's bill we thought the pooch had been living at the Ritz."

Just like commoners—rich commoners—Prince Don Carlos, of Spain, and his bride Princess Sophia of Greece, drove up in front of the MFG Studio Wednesday in a red Jaguar, the Prince driving and the chauffeur occupying the back seat in solitary splendor.

The royal sightseers were as eager to view the movie lot as any small town tourists, even if they did get the red carpet treatment. Asked if they would like to see the famed "prop" department where MGM keeps all valuable furniture and objets d'art, the Spanish heir apparent said: "No, we'd like to see the streets where the westerns are made."

I've never known a lady who loves to get in the middle of a fight more than Simone Signoret. The Oscar-winning French wife of Yves Montand thinks nothing of wading into everything from politics (her Algerian views almost got her blackballed in her native land). And now Simone is up to her neck with the irate Swedes.

Seems that Simone wants to play the leading femme role in Irving Wallace's "The Prize," all about the shady private lives of a group of Nobel prize winners. In the native land of Nobel, this book is mud and banned just as tightly as if it were Boston.

The dispute has gone so far that no less a personage than Dr. Linus Pauling of Cal Tech, let out a blast against author Wallace that he had sullied the whole program of Nobel awards —particularly in the character that Simone wants to play in the movie!

No one was more flabbergasted than Troy Donahue when I got him on the set of "Hawaiian Eye" and asked him bluntly:

"Have you got a broken hand from a fight protecting Susan Pleshette from an annoyer in Las Vegas?"

"Have I got a WHAT?" he yowled. He was so surprised he almost dropped the 'phone. When Troy gathered his breath, he not only assured me that the gossip out of 'Vegas was false — but called two eyewitnesses to report that he didnt' even have a scratch on either hand. Oh, well, when you've been away from your job as long as I, you have to check out any bit of excitement.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

After ruling that children may not attend Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn's "The Children's Hour," the British censors changed the title to "The Loudest Whisper."

Jimmy Durante getting a laugh out of Robert ("Untouchables") Stack telling him over the back of a booth at the Villa Capri, "Personally, I'm a touchable."

You can bet you last dime that when Darryl Zanuck takes over, 20th Century-Fox will be run in the exhilirating efficiency it knew back in the good old days when Darryl was czar. The best news in this town is that Darryl is coming back.

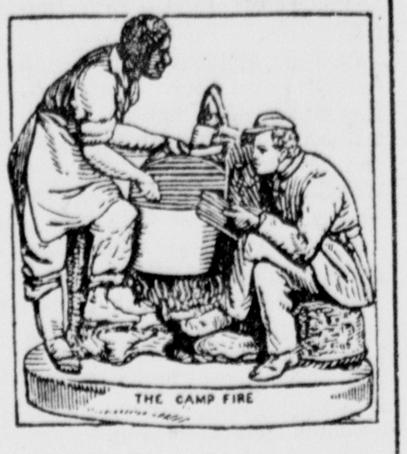
The complete listing of Rogers groups with contemporary illustrations of many will be found in Antiques Digest, compiled by Earl Breeding, an attorney working with the firm founded by Henry L. Stimson, who once posed for John Rogers." This description of an appealing variety of Americana is given in "Dictionary of American Antiques," by Carl Drepperd [pub. by Doubleday].

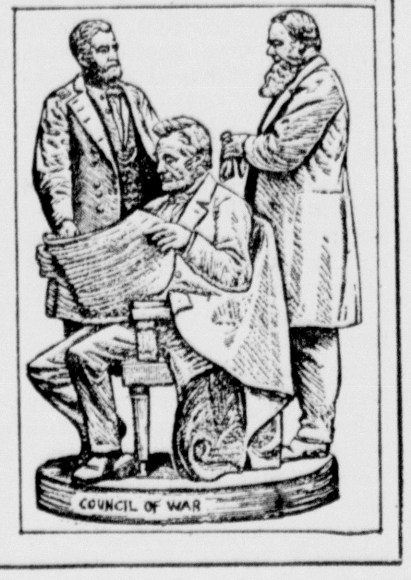
John Rogers, a social historian whose medium was sculpture, was launched in popularity and fame by the war over slavery. His miniature group, "The Slave Auction," was exploited in 1860 by the abolitionists with the result that thousands of casts were sold. Rogers cultivated the market thus opened to him with a succession of symbols of popular sentiment that were given places on mantels and tables in homes throughout the North.

Born in Salem, Mass., in 1829, Rogers was trained as an engineer and therefore had a cultivated eye for detail and good proportion. When forced by failing vision to work with his hands, he took up modeling in clay as a hobby and found a market for his works. He turned his back on Biblical, Greco-Roman mythological, German heroic and abstract themes which dominated the work of other artists. His themes were realistic; he recorded the tragedies and heroisms of the American contemporary scene.

Inasmuch as he looked at life as average men and women around him did in their more conscious moments, Rogers' statuettes mirrored feelings many regarded with pride. Copies of one or more of Rogers' 80-odd subjects were enshrined in countless homes from the Sixties through the Nineties.

—CLARK KINNAIRD





Right: Two much sought Rogers Groups: "The Camp Fire" (above), representing a Negro servant as cook for a Union soldier, and "Council of War," with images of Grant, Lincoln and Secretary of War Stanton in 1864. Other prized Rogers' Civil War subjects were "The Wounded Scout," "One More Shot" and "Going to the Minister."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Lucky the glamor girl showman Joe Levine smiles on careerwise. Sultry Israeli actress Ziva Rodann tan take a bow that Joe has signed her on a three picture deal. She kicks off with real star treatment in her first, "Young Girls of Good Families" which starts in the south of France in mid-September.

"Can you imagine anything nicer than heading for the French Riviera this time of year?" Ziva interrupted her packing to ask. "It's an amusing story about girls of good families getting embroiled in summer romances and I get to wear lovely clothes."

She also told me that Pierre Mantazel is the male lead. I never heard of him but Ziva says he's a top European actor.

And now Julie admits, between scenes on "Three On a Match" at U-I, that she, too, is heading for Europe when she completes the Kirk Douglas movie.

If you ask me, I have my private opinions about Mr. Hamilton being in a marrying frame of mind. Even with a big house he bought in Beverly Hills when he was engaged to Susan Kohner. George strikes me as a young man who intends to get around before settling down. Girls, beware.

Speaking of playing the field, —Ann-Margret's doing all right. The day I returned to my desk, I had three cafe tips that the Swedish singer had been out dining, each time with a different escort.

I sometimes wonder how she finds time to work in "Bye Bye Birdie" at Columbia. Plus moving into the new home she has bought her parents in Benedict Canyon. She tells me, "The nice thing about the house is that our Yorkshire terrier Scubie can have the run of the place. When we lived in an apartment, the manager made us board out Scubie at a kennel — and after we got the first week's bill we thought the pooch had been living at the Ritz."

Just like commoners—rich commoners—Prince Don Carlos, of Spain, and his bride Princess Sophia of Greece, drove up in front of the MFG Studio Wednesday in a red Jaguar, the Prince driving and the chauffeur occupying the back seat in solitary splendor.

The royal sightseers were as eager to view the movie lot as any small town tourists, even if they did get the red carpet treatment. Asked if they would like to see the famed "prop" department where MGM keeps all valuable furniture and objets d'art, the Spanish heir apparent said: "No, we'd like to see the streets where the westerns are made."

I've never known a lady who loves to get in the middle of a fight more than Simone Signoret. The Oscar-winning French wife of Yves Montand thinks nothing of wading into everything from politics (her Algerian views almost got her blackballed in her native land). And now Simone is up to her neck with the irate Swedes.

Seems that Simone wants to play the leading femme role in Irving Wallace's "The Prize," all about the shady private lives of a group of Nobel prize winners. In the native land of Nobel, this book is mud and banned just as tightly as if it were Boston.

The dispute has gone so far that no less a personage than Dr. Linus Pauling of Cal Tech, let out a blast against author Wallace that he had sullied the whole program of Nobel awards —particularly in the character that Simone wants to play in the movie!

No one was more flabbergasted than Troy Donahue when I got him on the set of "Hawaiian Eye" and asked him bluntly:

"Have you got a broken hand from a fight protecting Susan Pleshette from an annoyer in Las Vegas?"

"Have I got a WHAT?" he yowled. He was so surprised he almost dropped the 'phone. When Troy gathered his breath, he not only assured me that the gossip out of 'Vegas was false — but called two eyewitnesses to report that he didnt' even have a scratch on either hand. Oh, well, when you've been away from your job as long as I, you have to check out any bit of excitement.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

After ruling that children may not attend Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn's "The Children's Hour," the British censors changed the title to "The Loudest Whisper."

Jimmy Durante getting a laugh out of Robert ("Untouchables") Stack telling him over the back of a booth at the Villa Capri, "Personally, I'm a touchable."

You can bet you last dime that when Darryl Zanuck takes over, 20th Century-Fox will be run in the exhilirating efficiency it knew back in the good old days when Darryl was czar. The best news in this town is that Darryl is coming back.

Government And The Milk Bath

All those American cities complaining about water shortages might consider turning to milk. The Agriculture Department has a lot of surplus milk, although it currently is being manufactured into less runny products such as butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk.

The dairy glut would be worse were the department less agile in disposing of the surplus through school lunch, welfare, and food-for-peace programs. Even President Kennedy is trying to help out by directing that milk be served at every White House meal. (How much good does this do with Jacqueline and Caroline in Italy?)

Latest figures show that on August 1 the government held surplus stocks of 366 million pounds of butter, 105 million pounds of cheese and 556 million pounds of nonfat dry milk. This is two and a half times the amount in surplus on August 1, 1961. Under the price support program the government is now buying roughly 10 per cent of the total milk marketed, at a cost estimated at more than half a billion dollars for the current marketing year. Agriculture Secretary Freeman on August 16 appealed to Congress for legislation at this session to authorize production controls on milk. He said his department is being forced to buy surplus butter in quantities which threaten to outrun freezer storage space for it.

But Congress and the nation's 400,000 dairy farmers couldn't get together on any remedial legislation earlier this year and there is no reason to believe they will do so at this late date. Most dairy farmers can make ends meet at the current price support level of 75 per cent of parity and seem to prefer the lower level to acceptance of marketing controls.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Biggest Change

Free Inquiry is the task of this century in every country. So much is coming before us that no one can know everything or put our knowledge together into a system. Such philosophers as Aristotle and Thomas Aquinas today would probably be helpless before the mass of new material that is being brought in.

In the 1920s and 1930s we attacked Soviet Russia on the ground that production could only be possible on a large scale if the incentives of capitalism urged men to produce. In the 1960s we find, to our dismay and chagrin, that the Soviet bloc of countries is producing mightily and in certain extraordinarily complex fields is doing better than we do or is equal to us. This forces us to revalue our system and to attempt to discover why we fall behind. In a matter of 45 years, the Soviet nations have equalled us in the fields of physics, astrophysics, mathematics and metallurgy.

This our experts know to be true even if some die-hards decline to believe it. There are still those who ask, "Did Sputnik I really climb the skies?" There is no time to bother with such inquiries. We need to get on with our work, which is the survival of this nation and while it is possible in good times to suffer fools, these are not good times.

The biggest change is neither political nor economic. It is in the field of technology. The Russians, casting aside traditional impediments, have moved into the fields of technology mobilizing entire nations. They turned out engineers as we used to turn out lawyers and ministers. It may be true that their young people prefer Upton Sinclair to John Milton, but the fact remains that they are also turning out violinists and dancers and perhaps philosophers and historians. The last great philosophers of the West, Einstein, Bergson, and Whitehead, are not of our generation.

They have also been able to develop a strong sense of patriotism. We used to believe that no people could be patriotic except in freedom. We should have known better, because history recounts many instances of patriotism without freedom. Sparta is an example. The China of the Manchus up to the Dowager Empress; Japan before the Meiji Revolution is another. One can go down the line of a people giving their lives for their own enslavement. We witnessed it in Germany under Hitler.

We face the terrifying fact that the enemy that opposes us and that seeks to bury us, is not only fighting for a world empire but for the dissolution of our form of society. It is as though Attila were at us again.

Even that has happened often before and were it not for Charles Martel and John Sobieski we should all today be Turkish Moslems with four wives a piece and going to Mecca from time to time for the purification of our souls. It is when men become conscious that their way of life is to be destroyed; that their country is to be taken from them; that their homes and their lands and their women are to be confiscated that they fight back against every odd—and often they win.

Our war against Russia is a technological one. Each Astronaut who goes up outside the Earth is doing more for us than the business men, the labor leaders, the Communists and anti-Communists. He is making us technologically the equal of our enemy and maybe we shall surpass the enemy. The boys who in our armed forces are watching various instruments and making scientific data understandable are doing as big a job as any soldiers in the entire history of man. In a world which gathers data from the very bottom of the sea, when heavy chemicals are experimentally poured into human beings with unbelievable genetic effects, when we dare hardly know what to do in so many fields of human activities, we need to pause a moment to discover what we are doing and why.

It is not just the United States that is involved. It is the whole of mankind. Everything we believed to be absolutely true is being challenged by new data—much of which we do not understand. Nevertheless, men who cannot even read the data, who do not understand what they read, challenge the knowledge and wisdom of experts.

A Queen Talks Of Cats, Kings And The Good Old Days In Yugoslavia

By Drew Pearson

VENICE, Italy—It's something of a contrast to have tea with President Tito of Yugoslavia and then lunch with the mother-in-law of King Peter, the ousted monarch of Yugoslavia. But along the Adriatic, where Communist Yugoslavia rubs shoulders with the one-time aristocracy of ancient Rome, anything can happen, and I found myself seated beside Her Royal Highness, Princess Aspasia, widow of the late King Alexander of Greece.

It was at one of those old world luncheons that are out of this world, at the Grand Canal Palace of Count Vittorio Cini, where the butlers serve exquisite courses with the precision of the Queen's Guards and the conversation turns around the alleged "infamy" of Premier Fanfani, the treason of nationalizing electricity, and whether Venice should abolish canals and gondolas in favor of throughways and automobiles.

Princess Aspasia and I were able to get started on a less profound though possibly more interesting subject—cats. Her daughter, the exiled queen of Yugoslavia, has four.

"They are justalley cats," confided the Princess, "but she loves them. And I have a dachshund, which I love. And when my daughter comes to see me with King Peter and her cats, my little daschund looks so sad."

I admitted that my sympathies were with the one-time Queen of Yugoslavia, insomuch as I had once served in the not too exalted position of chairman of National Cat Week. I suggested, however, that some people believed in co-existence, even if the Red Chinese and Molotov didn't, and that I had been able to get my two cats and two dogs to co-exist.

I gathered that the question of whether the former Queen of Greece sees her daughter, the former Queen of Yugoslavia, depended in part on whether the four cats would be able to co-exist with the one dachshund on a proposed reunion in Venice.

Tito And Grandson

Without really trying to solve this problem, we went on to other things. Princess Aspasia, knowing I had just seen Tito, wanted to know what he was like. I described him as a man who was a bit over 70 who looked about 50, had strong features and a quiet but effective way of talking.

"He must be a strong man to keep his country together," observed the Princess, who as a neighbor of Yugoslavia knew something about its turbulent population.

Without criticizing Tito, she spoke a bit sorrowfully about the way he had taken her son-in-law's fortune away and how King Peter and her daughter were now practically penniless in England. Some wealthy American-Yugoslavs had helped them out by paying the expenses of her 17-year-old grandson, Prince Alexander, to go to Culver Military Academy in Indiana.

"He loved it there," said his grandmother. "He liked America so much. But it was so expensive bringing him home across the Atlantic for his holidays. We finally put him in the same school in Scotland with Prince Charles.

"My grandson," she continued, "would like to meet Tito. He says it's foolish not to talk to him, that he's done a lot for the Yugoslav people. Perhaps some day they will meet."

Memories Of The Past

There is something depressing about most has-been royalty. They look back at the splendors of the past, unable to adjust themselves to the rigors of the present. But there is nothing depressing about Princess Aspasia. And I suspect there is nothing depressing about her grandson. The Princess is an attractive lady with deep brown eyes, not doleful eyes, but expressive, kindly eyes that can look back at a great deal of romance and a great deal of history.

Her husband was King of Greece during those chaotic days right after World War I when the Allies had kicked out his father, because his wife was the sister of Kaiser Wilhelm and accused of being pro-German. Royal families were not popular in those days. And it fell to Prince Alexander, husband of my luncheon companion, to try to reinstate the family in the good graces of the Greek people.

But he had promised his father not to marry Princess Aspasia until after his elder brother, King George, had had a try on the throne. King George went into exile; Prince Alexander took his place; he and Aspasia were married.

"We waited three years—I was only 19—to get married, then two years on the throne. My baby was not yet born when my husband died. We had a gardener—a German who was going to be sent to a concentration camp—but my husband saved him. He had two monkeys, and one of them was attacked by our dog. My husband went to her rescue, whereupon the male monkey jumped from a tree and bit my husband on the leg and arm.

"Medicine was not advanced in those days and he died."

But her husband, King Alexander, had restored the popularity of the monarchy. His younger brother, King Paul, still reigns in Greece. And Princess Aspasia can look back on a romantic turbulent period with much more to occupy her mind than the current Venetian debate over the nationalization of electricity or throughways instead of canals and gondolas.

The Twentieth Century Comes To Dr. Salazar

By Warren Rogers Jr.

LISBON

Portuguese hearts yearn for the days of old, when Vasco da Gama and Ferdinand Magellan carried the Portuguese flag to the far corners of the world. But Portuguese heads know the past is dead and the present and future very much alive. And so, slowly and reluctantly, with a shiver of foreboding like a bather dunking a tense toe in a mountain stream, Portugal is edging into the twentieth century.

When Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar took over the government on April 27, 1928, one day short of his 39th birthday, all was chaos. From the revolutionary founding of the republic in 1910 until then, there had been 40 cabinets and 22 coups d'etat, and only one president, Dr. Antonio Almeida, ever had served out his full four-year term. Inflation was rampant. The economy was an utter wreck.

Dr. Salazar left his musty classroom at the University of Coimbra, second oldest in Europe, where he taught economics, to become finance minister. He attached one condition: absolute power. His demand was met. In a year, he balanced the budget. In two years, he cut the government payroll in half. In three, he raised taxes and paid off all of the public debt. In four, he unquestionably had absolute power, and he has had it ever since.

Dr. Salazar's philosophy is simple: work hard, live austerely, pray devoutly, never borrow or accept favors, and save 10 per cent of all you earn. A bachelor, a near-recluse, a puritanical and almost ascetic Roman Catholic, he practices what he preaches, and he has imposed it on Portugal and all its possessions for 34 years.

But now the Portugal that Dr. Salazar has built, with the aid of an elite of clever and most resourceful compatriots whom he personally handpicked, is being threatened by pressures outside the realm of his absolute power. These pressures, in the United Nations and elsewhere, threaten Portugal with the loss of Angola and Mozambique, her major overseas "provinces."

Small wonder that Dr. Salazar has sworn to fight to the last drop to keep the colonies; with them, Portugal boasts a territory of 805,506 square miles, a population of 22,419,666, a balanced budget, international stature, and a protected market for goods which would find few buyers anywhere else. Without them, Portugal would be reduced to 34,230 square miles, a population of 8,980,000, a monstrous trade deficit, a tenth-rate status, and a depression which would make its current per capita income of $245 a year, the lowest in Western Europe, seem high.

Nevertheless, a visit to lovely Lisbon for talks with the Salazar elite and the common folk, for walks among the Moorish-tinged architecture, for the Portuguese bullfight in which the bull is taunted but not killed, for miraculously fluffy omelets and depressingly anguished "Fado" songs in the little cafes — all these reinforce past impressions and project a new one.

Portugal is still proud poor. A man with one suit and one pair of shoes keeps looking fresh, and you would not know he wore them every day. A tourist may sleep between monogrammed sheets at the Ritz and gambol on the beach and at the casino at nearby Estoril, along with the Batistas and Don Juans. But quite large children play naked in the narrow streets of the slums of old Lisbon, to save their meager wardrobe for Sunday-go-to-meeting events. Yet, it is all changing, because, after all these years, Dr. Salazar is willing to take a chance on a change.

The Angola uprising, which Dr. Salazar insists was outside-generated and involved less than one per cent of the Angolese, has cost him heavily. In a year of sending troops to quell the revolt, his reserves of gold and foreign exchange dropped by about $100 million. Painfully, he broke a rule about never borrowing.

Edging into the twentieth century, he accepted loans from several sources. This outside help—which he had disdained even to the point of refusing an offer of rent from the United States for use of the critcally needed Azores base — built up his reserves again. As of July 1, they stood at $670 million.

The biggest loan, $67 million to be repaid in 25 years, came from America's Export-Import Bank. It will help build the largest bridge in Europe across the Tejo river at Lisbon. Another, $20 million due in five years to nine American banks, is for general economic development. West Germany advanced $37.5 million, repayable in 20 years, for airport development and for an irrigation project in arid Alentejo province. The World Bank is considering, and probably will grant, a $25 million loan for hydro-electric power. A school lunch program, using surplus American food, is a huge success. Ford and General Motors are on the verge of making solid investments here.

Dr. Salazar's philosophy now is to accept change, but slowly. He is willing to make major adjustments in the economy and the way of life, but he insists that they must be of the sort which can be sustained. His pride — indeed, the Portuguese pride — will not allow him to grab at help because it is there, or to tack with each blow of the winds of change howling throughout the world these days.

The Portuguese will pull themselves up. But they cannot be pushed.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CRITICISM — Criticism of Congress usually approaches the boiling point at about this time of year. But this year the volume and size of the brickbats exceed those of recent memory.

To begin with, the congressional desire for huge chunks of President Kennedy's program, lukewarm at best, cooled further as the economy faltered. It rejected most of the things that Kennedy holds dear and showed a remarkable ability to find its own path despite the heavy Democratic majorities in both Houses.

Then, when the country was prepared to write Congress off for this year, the Senate got itself involved in a filibuster that appears to have slowed down the adjournment process by at least two weeks. And on top of this, Kennedy himself put off for weeks his decision on whether or not a tax cut would be necessary this year to avert a recession.

These various factors focus public attention on Congress, something not altogether comfortable for that body in an election year. Many individuals in the Senate and House, who are seeking re-election, would feel a lot better if congressional antics were not in the headlines.

As things stand, some of the wiser heads are all for a quick adjournment. This would permit the somewhat adverse image of Congress to fade a bit between now and the November elections and would give incumbents a better chance to get back home and counter the criticisms being voiced by their opponents who already are hard at work to unseat them.

Vaccination Can Prevent Trachoma Outbreaks

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In April of this year the Public Health Service started a trachoma vaccination program among 400 Indian school children in Arizona. The announcement meant little to most Americans because they are not acquainted with this eye condition.

Trachoma was a serious disease to our grandparents and a common cause of blindness up to a few decades ago. Nowadays, it is confined in the United States to certain American Indians; the mountaineers of Tennessee, Missouri, and Kentucky; and farmers of South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa living near Indian reservations.

It has been estimated that 15 per cent of the population of the earth is afflicted and the scourge continues to be a common cause of blindness in certain parts of Asia, Africa, and the middle east. If the vaccine is successful it will be welcome news to these men and women.

Trachoma is a contagious infection of the whites of the eyes and the iner lining of the eyelids. The disease is indistinguishable in the early stages from an ordinary eye infection. The inflamed parts burn and itch, they tear profusely, and the watery secretion teems with the causative organisms. This explains why the condition spreads so readily among friends and relatives.

Many complain of twitching of the eyelids and pain when exposed to light. In time, the membranes become swollen, congested and reddened. The lids thicken due to scarring. Granules of the inside of the lids give the surface a pebbly or raspberry like appearance. The popular term, granulated eyelids, is more descriptive of the condition.

The disease responds to the sulfonamides, used over a period of 8 to 20 days. When one of these drugs is given to a large number of victims in a community, the infection disappears rapidly. But recurrences can be expected, unless the condition is eradicated completely. While the sulfa preparations do not cure blindness, the total number of blind individuals decreases over a period of years.

SLOW TO AWAKEN

L. F. writes: When I awaken in the morning, why do I continue to stretch until my bones snap? This goes on many times before I arise and I cannot seem to stop it. I am the only one in my family with this problem.

REPLY

Just reading your letter relaxed me so much I started to yawn. Stretching is a common practice among those who are slow to awaken.

SPARSE BEARD

G. C. writes: I'm trying to grow a beard to hide a facial scar. So far, the growth has been sparse. Are there any substances that will encourage a luxuriant beard?

REPLY

Give it time. Meanwhile, get out the family album and look at the hereditary beard patterns of your great and great-great grandfathers. It is possible the best you can do is chin whiskers or sideburns.

COFFEE AFTER CORONARY

T. S. writes: Is it safe for a woman who has recovered from a coronary attack to drink coffee?

REPLY

Yes, in moderation, provided it does not make the heart beat faster or irregularly.

WELL DONE IS BETTER

C. M. writes: Is it safe to serve children rare beef?

REPLY

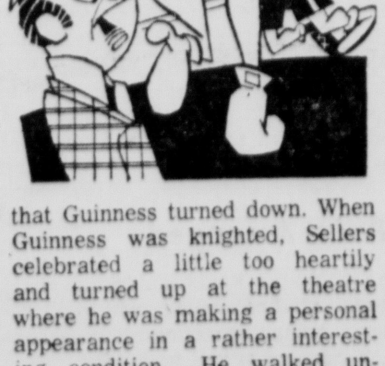
Yes, but as a rule children do not like rare meats and exotic foods.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At a dinner in honor of outstanding figures in the sports world, Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson told of a fifth-rate preliminary fighter who had been taking a fearful beating from a superior boxer. After the third round he pleaded with his manager, "How can I stand up against this guy?" "Breathe on him," advised the manager. "Maybe he'll catch your cold!"



Peter Sellers, British movie star, felt that he could afford a butler this year — but the man he hired had a drawback. "The poor fellow," says Sellers, "could only see straight ahead. He couldn't see sideways at all. Result: he kept bumping into things. I'd call out, 'There's a wall over there.' He'd answer, 'You don't have to tell me. I know.' Then there would be a crash — and we were out another set of china dishes."

Sellers is a great friend of Alec Guinness, and in fact, has enacted with distinction several roles that Guinness turned down. When Guinness was knighted, Sellers celebrated a little too heartily and turned up at the theatre where he was making a personal appearance in a rather interesting condition. He walked unsteadily to the front of the stage and told the audience cheerfully, "I'm sloshed." They loved it!

Come To The Fair

By John Crosby

MALAGA, Spain

If there's anything in the world noisier than a Spanish fair, I've never heard it. The Spaniards can absorb an almost incredible amount of racket, thrive on it, derive sustenance from it. If there's not an incredible volume of sound, they don't think they're having any fun.

By that standard—and that standard alone—the Malaga fair was a whopping success. You could hear the darn things for miles. When you approached the entrance with the huge neon sign "Malaga Fair 1962," the strident sound, amplified almost beyond human, or anyway, non-Spanish endurance, would drown out a four-jet airplane in a climbing turn. You couldn't, as my mother used to say, hear yourself think. But a Spaniard doesn't want to hear himself think. He loves that racket.

You see a Spaniard in his wide-brimmed gray hat, his girl on his arm in her flamenco dress. He mouths an endearment. Maybe tells a joke. She smiles. Or laughs. She can't possibly have heard him over the din. Still, this has its advantages. All jokes, all endearments, under these circumstances, are good ones. A fellow doesn't have to be much of a conversationalist to get a great reputation as a wit. Just move the jaw muscles with a good-natured expression on your face, make a throwaway gesture with the arm, and you'll get laughs. "An awfully good one," they'll think, "if we could only have heard it."

I've been going to Spanish fairs, lo, these seven years now. They've always been noisy affairs, but I think the quality of the noise has seriously declined as its sheer volume has increased. The worst thing that ever happened to Spanish fairs is the introduction of an amplifying system.

The first fair I ever attended was at Seville, still one of the most gorgeous of Spanish fairs, back in 1955, and I came away with two unforgettable impressions. One was the sheer beauty of the Spanish men and women and horses. The other was the insistent and incessant clicking of castanets and the clapping of hands, in those marvelous rhythms that get under the skin and set the whole pulsating tone of the fair. Your very heartbeat seems to take up the beat until you become a part of the fair, a participant in it. You are all brothers together fused by the rhythms.

At least that's the way it was at Seville. Not any more, at least not here. Now the castanets and the hand-clapping are drowned out by the strident voice — and there's no more strident language than Spanish when you put it on an amplifying system — of a Spanish pitchman telling you to step up and take a chance.

Not only does this drown out the pervading rhythms of the fair, but it just about drowns out the flamenco dancers in the unlikely event you can find any. I love flamenco, but what little you could find here was amateur and surprisingly self-conscious. The best flamenco dancer I saw here was all of six years old and I think it was because she was not yet old enough to be self-conscious.

I have a theory about this which I must admit is shared by few others. In the last seven years, tourism has become Spain's biggest business and, as hordes of Americans, English, French, and Germans have invaded the lovely land, staring at the Spaniards, the Spaniards have stared right back. Somewhere in this exchange of glances, some Spaniards — particularly in seacoast cities like Malaga — have got the idea that the flamenco is pretty bloody old world and all that. That, I think, is why, when you see a family here engaged in the flamenco in the casetas, it has a self-derisive smirk about it, as if they were saying: "Gee, dig us being quaint." The flamenco has become Spanish corn.

Bill Davis, the local seer, thinks the more sophisticated Spaniards have simply got bored with flamenco. They've seen an awful lot of it and they've just gone on to other things. Others will tell you flamenco is so imbedded in the Spanish soul that it'll be danced and sung as long as Spain exists. But there's no doubt that good flamenco is getting harder and harder to find in Spain. At the Malaga fair, what little there was had none of the savage vitality and self-confidence it has in Granada.

Then there's the matter of clothes. The Spaniard used to wear his black or gray wide-brimmed hat, a black suit, and a frilled shirt. His girl usually wore a flamenco dress or a beautiful riding habit. They were on foot or on horseback or in a carriage. Cars were banned. Now the cars are allowed into the fair grounds, a grievous mistake. The carriages and horses are dwindling. Rarely, at the Malaga fair, did you see a senorita in her flamenco dress sitting behind her caballero on horseback. The Spanish boys have noticed how comfortable the tourists are in their open-necked T-shirts and promptly adopted them. They're more comfortable but less picturesque.

So without the flamenco and the lovely horses and carriages and Spanish clothes to look at, what does one do at the Malaga fair? Well, you can take a ride on the Dodge 'Em cars. Or go through the Fun House. Or ride the ferris wheel. But, of course, you could have done all that back in Cleveland.

Government And The Milk Bath

All those American cities complaining about water shortages might consider turning to milk. The Agriculture Department has a lot of surplus milk, although it currently is being manufactured into less runny products such as butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk.

The dairy glut would be worse were the department less agile in disposing of the surplus through school lunch, welfare, and food-for-peace programs. Even President Kennedy is trying to help out by directing that milk be served at every White House meal. (How much good does this do with Jacqueline and Caroline in Italy?)

Latest figures show that on August 1 the government held surplus stocks of 366 million pounds of butter, 105 million pounds of cheese and 556 million pounds of nonfat dry milk. This is two and a half times the amount in surplus on August 1, 1961. Under the price support program the government is now buying roughly 10 per cent of the total milk marketed, at a cost estimated at more than half a billion dollars for the current marketing year. Agriculture Secretary Freeman on August 16 appealed to Congress for legislation at this session to authorize production controls on milk. He said his department is being forced to buy surplus butter in quantities which threaten to outrun freezer storage space for it.

But Congress and the nation's 400,000 dairy farmers couldn't get together on any remedial legislation earlier this year and there is no reason to believe they will do so at this late date. Most dairy farmers can make ends meet at the current price support level of 75 per cent of parity and seem to prefer the lower level to acceptance of marketing controls.

These Days

The Biggest Change

Free Inquiry is the task of this century in every country. So much is coming before us that no one can know everything or put our knowledge together into a system. Such philosophers as Aristotle and Thomas Aquinas today would probably be helpless before the mass of new material that is being brought in.

In the 1920s and 1930s we attacked Soviet Russia on the ground that production could only be possible on a large scale if the incentives of capitalism urged men to produce. In the 1960s we find, to our dismay and chagrin, that the Soviet bloc of countries is producing mightily and in certain extraordinarily complex fields is doing better than we do or is equal to us. This forces us to revalue our system and to attempt to discover why we fall behind. In a matter of 45 years, the Soviet nations have equalled us in the fields of physics, astrophysics, mathematics and metallurgy.

This our experts know to be true even if some die-hards decline to believe it. There are still those who ask, "Did Sputnik I really climb the skies?" There is no time to bother with such inquiries. We need to get on with our work, which is the survival of this nation and while it is possible in good times to suffer fools, these are not good times.

The biggest change is neither political nor economic. It is in the field of technology. The Russians, casting aside traditional impediments, have moved into the fields of technology mobilizing entire nations. They turned out engineers as we used to turn out lawyers and ministers. It may be true that their young people prefer Upton Sinclair to John Milton, but the fact remains that they are also turning out violinists and dancers and perhaps philosophers and historians. The last great philosophers of the West, Einstein, Bergson, and Whitehead, are not of our generation.

They have also been able to develop a strong sense of patriotism. We used to believe that no people could be patriotic except in freedom. We should have known better, because history recounts many instances of patriotism without freedom. Sparta is an example. The China of the Manchus up to the Dowager Empress; Japan before the Meiji Revolution is another. One can go down the line of a people giving their lives for their own enslavement. We witnessed it in Germany under Hitler.

We face the terrifying fact that the enemy that opposes us and that seeks to bury us, is not only fighting for a world empire but for the dissolution of our form of society. It is as though Attila were at us again.

Even that has happened often before and were it not for Charles Martel and John Sobieski we should all today be Turkish Moslems with four wives a piece and going to Mecca from time to time for the purification of our souls. It is when men become conscious that their way of life is to be destroyed; that their country is to be taken from them; that their homes and their lands and their women are to be confiscated that they fight back against every odd—and often they win.

Our war against Russia is a technological one. Each Astronaut who goes up outside the Earth is doing more for us than the business men, the labor leaders, the Communists and anti-Communists. He is making us technologically the equal of our enemy and maybe we shall surpass the enemy. The boys who in our armed forces are watching various instruments and making scientific data understandable are doing as big a job as any soldiers in the entire history of man. In a world which gathers data from the very bottom of the sea, when heavy chemicals are experimentally poured into human beings with unbelievable genetic effects, when we dare hardly know what to do in so many fields of human activities, we need to pause a moment to discover what we are doing and why.

It is not just the United States that is involved. It is the whole of mankind. Everything we believed to be absolutely true is being challenged by new data—much of which we do not understand. Nevertheless, men who cannot even read the data, who do not understand what they read, challenge the knowledge and wisdom of experts.

The Twentieth Century Comes To Dr. Salazar

By Warren Rogers Jr.

LISBON

Portuguese hearts yearn for the days of old, when Vasco da Gama and Ferdinand Magellan carried the Portuguese flag to the far corners of the world. But Portuguese heads know the past is dead and the present and future very much alive. And so, slowly and reluctantly, with a shiver of foreboding like a bather dunking a tense toe in a mountain stream, Portugal is edging into the twentieth century.

When Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar took over the government on April 27, 1928, one day short of his 39th birthday, all was chaos. From the revolutionary founding of the republic in 1910 until then, there had been 40 cabinets and 22 coups d'etat, and only one president, Dr. Antonio Almeida, ever had served out his full four-year term. Inflation was rampant. The economy was an utter wreck.

Dr. Salazar left his musty classroom at the University of Coimbra, second oldest in Europe, where he taught economics, to become finance minister. He attached one condition: absolute power. His demand was met. In a year, he balanced the budget. In two years, he cut the government payroll in half. In three, he raised taxes and paid off all of the public debt. In four, he unquestionably had absolute power, and he has had it ever since.

Dr. Salazar's philosophy is simple: work hard, live austerely, pray devoutly, never borrow or accept favors, and save 10 per cent of all you earn. A bachelor, a near-recluse, a puritanical and almost ascetic Roman Catholic, he practices what he preaches, and he has imposed it on Portugal and all its possessions for 34 years.

But now the Portugal that Dr. Salazar has built, with the aid of an elite of clever and most resourceful compatriots whom he personally handpicked, is being threatened by pressures outside the realm of his absolute power. These pressures, in the United Nations and elsewhere, threaten Portugal with the loss of Angola and Mozambique, her major overseas "provinces."

Small wonder that Dr. Salazar has sworn to fight to the last drop to keep the colonies; with them, Portugal boasts a territory of 805,506 square miles, a population of 22,419,666, a balanced budget, international stature, and a protected market for goods which would find few buyers anywhere else. Without them, Portugal would be reduced to 34,230 square miles, a population of 8,980,000, a monstrous trade deficit, a tenth-rate status, and a depression which would make its current per capita income of $245 a year, the lowest in Western Europe, seem high.

Nevertheless, a visit to lovely Lisbon for talks with the Salazar elite and the common folk, for walks among the Moorish-tinged architecture, for the Portuguese bullfight in which the bull is taunted but not killed, for miraculously fluffy omelets and depressingly anguished "Fado" songs in the little cafes — all these reinforce past impressions and project a new one.

Portugal is still proud poor. A man with one suit and one pair of shoes keeps looking fresh, and you would not know he wore them every day. A tourist may sleep between monogrammed sheets at the Ritz and gambol on the beach and at the casino at nearby Estoril, along with the Batistas and Don Juans. But quite large children play naked in the narrow streets of the slums of old Lisbon, to save their meager wardrobe for Sunday-go-to-meeting events. Yet, it is all changing, because, after all these years, Dr. Salazar is willing to take a chance on a change.

The Angola uprising, which Dr. Salazar insists was outside-generated and involved less than one per cent of the Angolese, has cost him heavily. In a year of sending troops to quell the revolt, his reserves of gold and foreign exchange dropped by about $100 million. Painfully, he broke a rule about never borrowing.

Edging into the twentieth century, he accepted loans from several sources. This outside help—which he had disdained even to the point of refusing an offer of rent from the United States for use of the critcally needed Azores base — built up his reserves again. As of July 1, they stood at $670 million.

The biggest loan, $67 million to be repaid in 25 years, came from America's Export-Import Bank. It will help build the largest bridge in Europe across the Tejo river at Lisbon. Another, $20 million due in five years to nine American banks, is for general economic development. West Germany advanced $37.5 million, repayable in 20 years, for airport development and for an irrigation project in arid Alentejo province. The World Bank is considering, and probably will grant, a $25 million loan for hydro-electric power. A school lunch program, using surplus American food, is a huge success. Ford and General Motors are on the verge of making solid investments here.

Dr. Salazar's philosophy now is to accept change, but slowly. He is willing to make major adjustments in the economy and the way of life, but he insists that they must be of the sort which can be sustained. His pride — indeed, the Portuguese pride — will not allow him to grab at help because it is there, or to tack with each blow of the winds of change howling throughout the world these days.

The Portuguese will pull themselves up. But they cannot be pushed.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CRITICISM — Criticism of Congress usually approaches the boiling point at about this time of year. But this year the volume and size of the brickbats exceed those of recent memory.

To begin with, the congressional desire for huge chunks of President Kennedy's program, lukewarm at best, cooled further as the economy faltered. It rejected most of the things that Kennedy holds dear and showed a remarkable ability to find its own path despite the heavy Democratic majorities in both Houses.

Then, when the country was prepared to write Congress off for this year, the Senate got itself involved in a filibuster that appears to have slowed down the adjournment process by at least two weeks. And on top of this, Kennedy himself put off for weeks his decision on whether or not a tax cut would be necessary this year to avert a recession.

These various factors focus public attention on Congress, something not altogether comfortable for that body in an election year. Many individuals in the Senate and House, who are seeking re-election, would feel a lot better if congressional antics were not in the headlines.

As things stand, some of the wiser heads are all for a quick adjournment. This would permit the somewhat adverse image of Congress to fade a bit between now and the November elections and would give incumbents a better chance to get back home and counter the criticisms being voiced by their opponents who already are hard at work to unseat them.

Vaccination Can Prevent Trachoma Outbreaks

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In April of this year the Public Health Service started a trachoma vaccination program among 400 Indian school children in Arizona. The announcement meant little to most Americans because they are not acquainted with this eye condition.

Trachoma was a serious disease to our grandparents and a common cause of blindness up to a few decades ago. Nowadays, it is confined in the United States to certain American Indians; the mountaineers of Tennessee, Missouri, and Kentucky; and farmers of South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa living near Indian reservations.

It has been estimated that 15 per cent of the population of the earth is afflicted and the scourge continues to be a common cause of blindness in certain parts of Asia, Africa, and the middle east. If the vaccine is successful it will be welcome news to these men and women.

Trachoma is a contagious infection of the whites of the eyes and the iner lining of the eyelids. The disease is indistinguishable in the early stages from an ordinary eye infection. The inflamed parts burn and itch, they tear profusely, and the watery secretion teems with the causative organisms. This explains why the condition spreads so readily among friends and relatives.

Many complain of twitching of the eyelids and pain when exposed to light. In time, the membranes become swollen, congested and reddened. The lids thicken due to scarring. Granules of the inside of the lids give the surface a pebbly or raspberry like appearance. The popular term, granulated eyelids, is more descriptive of the condition.

The disease responds to the sulfonamides, used over a period of 8 to 20 days. When one of these drugs is given to a large number of victims in a community, the infection disappears rapidly. But recurrences can be expected, unless the condition is eradicated completely. While the sulfa preparations do not cure blindness, the total number of blind individuals decreases over a period of years.

SLOW TO AWAKEN

L. F. writes: When I awaken in the morning, why do I continue to stretch until my bones snap? This goes on many times before I arise and I cannot seem to stop it. I am the only one in my family with this problem.

REPLY

Just reading your letter relaxed me so much I started to yawn. Stretching is a common practice among those who are slow to awaken.

SPARSE BEARD

G. C. writes: I'm trying to grow a beard to hide a facial scar. So far, the growth has been sparse. Are there any substances that will encourage a luxuriant beard?

REPLY

Give it time. Meanwhile, get out the family album and look at the hereditary beard patterns of your great and great-great grandfathers. It is possible the best you can do is chin whiskers or sideburns.

COFFEE AFTER CORONARY

T. S. writes: Is it safe for a woman who has recovered from a coronary attack to drink coffee?

REPLY

Yes, in moderation, provided it does not make the heart beat faster or irregularly.

WELL DONE IS BETTER

C. M. writes: Is it safe to serve children rare beef?

REPLY

Yes, but as a rule children do not like rare meats and exotic foods.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At a dinner in honor of outstanding figures in the sports world, Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson told of a fifth-rate preliminary fighter who had been taking a fearful beating from a superior boxer. After the third round he pleaded with his manager, "How can I stand up against this guy?" "Breathe on him," advised the manager. "Maybe he'll catch your cold!"

Peter Sellers, British movie star, felt that he could afford a butler this year — but the man he hired had a drawback. "The poor fellow," says Sellers, "could only see straight ahead. He couldn't see sideways at all. Result: he kept bumping into things. I'd call out, 'There's a wall over there.' He'd answer, 'You don't have to tell me. I know.' Then there would be a crash — and we were out another set of china dishes."

Sellers is a great friend of Alec Guinness, and in fact, has enacted with distinction several roles that Guinness turned down. When Guinness was knighted, Sellers celebrated a little too heartily and turned up at the theatre where he was making a personal appearance in a rather interesting condition. He walked unsteadily to the front of the stage and told the audience cheerfully, "I'm sloshed." They loved it!

By Drew Pearson

VENICE, Italy—It's something of a contrast to have tea with President Tito of Yugoslavia and then lunch with the mother-in-law of King Peter, the ousted monarch of Yugoslavia. But along the Adriatic, where Communist Yugoslavia rubs shoulders with the one-time aristocracy of ancient Rome, anything can happen, and I found myself seated beside Her Royal Highness, Princess Aspasia, widow of the late King Alexander of Greece.

It was at one of those old world luncheons that are out of this world, at the Grand Canal Palace of Count Vittorio Cini, where the butlers serve exquisite courses with the precision of the Queen's Guards and the conversation turns around the alleged "infamy" of Premier Fanfani, the treason of nationalizing electricity, and whether Venice should abolish canals and gondolas in favor of throughways and automobiles.

Princess Aspasia and I were able to get started on a less profound though possibly more interesting subject—cats. Her daughter, the exiled queen of Yugoslavia, has four.

"They are justalley cats," confided the Princess, "but she loves them. And I have a dachshund, which I love. And when my daughter comes to see me with King Peter and her cats, my little daschund looks so sad."

I admitted that my sympathies were with the one-time Queen of Yugoslavia, insomuch as I had once served in the not too exalted position of chairman of National Cat Week. I suggested, however, that some people believed in co-existence, even if the Red Chinese and Molotov didn't, and that I had been able to get my two cats and two dogs to co-exist.

I gathered that the question of whether the former Queen of Greece sees her daughter, the former Queen of Yugoslavia, depended in part on whether the four cats would be able to co-exist with the one dachshund on a proposed reunion in Venice.

Tito And Grandson

Without really trying to solve this problem, we went on to other things. Princess Aspasia, knowing I had just seen Tito, wanted to know what he was like. I described him as a man who was a bit over 70 who looked about 50, had strong features and a quiet but effective way of talking.

"He must be a strong man to keep his country together," observed the Princess, who as a neighbor of Yugoslavia knew something about its turbulent population.

Without criticizing Tito, she spoke a bit sorrowfully about the way he had taken her son-in-law's fortune away and how King Peter and her daughter were now practically penniless in England. Some wealthy American-Yugoslavs had helped them out by paying the expenses of her 17-year-old grandson, Prince Alexander, to go to Culver Military Academy in Indiana.

"He loved it there," said his grandmother. "He liked America so much. But it was so expensive bringing him home across the Atlantic for his holidays. We finally put him in the same school in Scotland with Prince Charles.

"My grandson," she continued, "would like to meet Tito. He says it's foolish not to talk to him, that he's done a lot for the Yugoslav people. Perhaps some day they will meet."

Memories Of The Past

There is something depressing about most has-been royalty. They look back at the splendors of the past, unable to adjust themselves to the rigors of the present. But there is nothing depressing about Princess Aspasia. And I suspect there is nothing depressing about her grandson. The Princess is an attractive lady with deep brown eyes, not doleful eyes, but expressive, kindly eyes that can look back at a great deal of romance and a great deal of history.

Her husband was King of Greece during those chaotic days right after World War I when the Allies had kicked out his father, because his wife was the sister of Kaiser Wilhelm and accused of being pro-German. Royal families were not popular in those days. And it fell to Prince Alexander, husband of my luncheon companion, to try to reinstate the family in the good graces of the Greek people.

But he had promised his father not to marry Princess Aspasia until after his elder brother, King George, had had a try on the throne. King George went into exile; Prince Alexander took his place; he and Aspasia were married.

"We waited three years—I was only 19—to get married, then two years on the throne. My baby was not yet born when my husband died. We had a gardener—a German who was going to be sent to a concentration camp—but my husband saved him. He had two monkeys, and one of them was attacked by our dog. My husband went to her rescue, whereupon the male monkey jumped from a tree and bit my husband on the leg and arm.

"Medicine was not advanced in those days and he died."

But her husband, King Alexander, had restored the popularity of the monarchy. His younger brother, King Paul, still reigns in Greece. And Princess Aspasia can look back on a romantic turbulent period with much more to occupy her mind than the current Venetian debate over the nationalization of electricity or throughways instead of canals and gondolas.

Floyd Boor To Direct Keyser CUF Campaign

KEYSER — Floyd C. Boor, cashier at Farmers and Merchants Bank, has accepted appointment as County United Fund campaign chairman of the Keyser area, according to Alvin H. Wilson, general drive chairman.

Wilson informed Boor of the overall campaign goal of $406.067, and the two discussed the Keyser portion of the 1962 social service, health and youth need target. Keyser's cut of the target pie for 1962 is $23,900.

After accepting appointment Boor, a resident of 65 South Mineral Street, said he realized what a job lies ahead for everyone in the Keyser CUF area in meeting the goal. He announced that he already has begun to set the wheels of this year's drive in motion and that he has begun selecting his top lieutenants.

A native of Bedford County, Pa., the new chairman is active in civic, fraternal and church undertakings in the area.

Educated in Bedford County schools and a graduate of Catherman's Business School, Cumberland, Boor has been cashier at Farmer's and Merchants Bank for nine years. Special Services Set For Mineral Pupils

KEYSER—Officials of the Mineral County Board of Education have announced special services available to children and parents permitting them to enter school under new regulations established by the State Board.

E. M. Welshonce, assistant superintendent, said that a child becoming six years of age between October 31 and the following February 1 can become eligible to enter the public schools at the beginning of the fall term if psychological tests show a mental age of 6½ years or more; and a physican certifies that the child has attained the physical and social maturity expected to enable functioning adequately with a normal age group of six year old children.

Those parents who feel their children will meet the requirements are urged to have physical examinations completed and then stop at the County Office to make arrangements for the psychological tests which will be administered locally by J. R. Haines, guidance counselor at Keyser High School.

Welshonce said, however, that these matters should be completed at once as the tests are administered to about four children daily. If they wait too long they may have to consult a private psychologist as registration for schools in Mineral County will take place on August 29.

Although the original plan by the State Department of Education was for the parents to stand the burden of the expense the Mineral County Board of Education has made the psychological services available free of charge. However, parents must pay for the physical examinations by the doctor of their choice.

Under state law a child is not required to enter school until he is seven years of age.

Special Services Set For Mineral Pupils

KEYSER—Officials of the Mineral County Board of Education have announced special services available to children and parents permitting them to enter school under new regulations established by the State Board.

E. M. Welshonce, assistant superintendent, said that a child becoming six years of age between October 31 and the following February 1 can become eligible to enter the public schools at the beginning of the fall term if psychological tests show a mental age of 6½ years or more; and a physican certifies that the child has attained the physical and social maturity expected to enable functioning adequately with a normal age group of six year old children.

Those parents who feel their children will meet the requirements are urged to have physical examinations completed and then stop at the County Office to make arrangements for the psychological tests which will be administered locally by J. R. Haines, guidance counselor at Keyser High School.

Welshonce said, however, that these matters should be completed at once as the tests are administered to about four children daily. If they wait too long they may have to consult a private psychologist as registration for schools in Mineral County will take place on August 29.

Although the original plan by the State Department of Education was for the parents to stand the burden of the expense the Mineral County Board of Education has made the psychological services available free of charge. However, parents must pay for the physical examinations by the doctor of their choice.

Under state law a child is not required to enter school until he is seven years of age.

Baltimore Hands New York Yankees Double Defeat, 6-2, 14-2

Jack Fisher Is Victor In Second Game

Turley Is Bombed For 9 Runs; Estrada Fans 10 In Opener

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Three two-run homers, five doubles, a triple and 11 singles plus the seven-hit pitching of Jack Fisher powered Baltimore to a 14-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday night after the Orioles won the opener, 6-2.

The Orioles bombed Yankee second game starter Bob Turley, who went four innings, for nine runs on 7 of their 9 extra base hits and 11 of their total of 20 hits. The home runs, all off Turley, were by Jim Gentile, Gus Triandos and John Powell.

Powell and Russ Snyder had four hits apiece and Jerry Adair had five.

Scoring in each of the first six innings, Baltimore tallied a run in the first inning, three in the second, another in the third and four in the fourth off Turley. Yankee reliever Roland Sheldon was touched for two more runs in the fifth and the final three Oriole runs in the sixth.

Chuck Estrada held the Yankees to five hits and struck out 10 in Baltimore's first-game victory. It was his first win in 40 days and his sixth against 13 defeats.

The Orioles hopped on Yankee starter Jim Bouton for four runs in the second inning. After Gentile walked and Brooks Robinson singled him to third, Powell struck out. Hobie Landrith then tripled for two runs and scored the third on Marv Breeding's suicide-squeeze bunt single. Breeding scored on Estrada's sacrifice and Snyder's single.

After Cletis Boyer followed Dale Long's walk to open the third inning with his 17th home run, to make it 4-2. Estrada blanked the Yankees the rest of the way on three singles.

South African Doubles Team Scores Upset

Forbes, Drysdale Beat Aussie Pair

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — South African tennis stars Gordon Forbes and Cliff Drysdale pulled off their second National Doubles upset in 48 hours Friday when they toppled Australian stars Rod Laver and Fred Stolle.

Forbes, 28, and Drysdale, 21, had to go 92 games to upset the Aussies, third foreign seeds here, 4-6, 12-10, 2-6, 11-9, 17-15.

The 3-hour, 34-minute match exceeded by 26 games the previous high for the tournament.

The South Africans first assumed the upset role here on Wednesday when they knocked out the second-ranking United States team of Bill Bond and Don Dell.

In the other semifinal match Friday, Mexican Davis Cuppers Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox continued their domination of the United States team by taking the third-seeded domestic tandem out of the eight-day tourney.

The Mexican campaigners, recent victors over the United States in American Zone cup play, eliminated the third-seeded domestic team of Ramsey Earnhart and Marty Riessen in humiliating straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 9-7.

Loss of the third domestic entry meant that only the top-seeded pair of Chuck Mc Kinley and Dennis Ralston remained in the field for the 82nd annual championships.

In a women's semifinal set, the ranking U.S. team of Karen Hantze Susman, 20, of San Antonio, Tex., and Billie Jean Moffitt, 19, of Long Beach, Calif., routed the veteran Wilmington, Del., team of Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont and Margaret Varner, 6-2, 6-3.

Victory by Susman and Moffitt put them in the finals with either the second U.S. twosome of Darlene Hard and Maria Bueno, or the South African pairing of Renee Schuurman and Mrs. Sandra Reynolds Price. That semi-final match will be played Saturday and the final on Sunday.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Bob Purkey became the second pitcher in the major leagues to win 20 games Friday night by defeating the Houston Colts, 4-2, to give the Cincinnati Reds their fifth straight victory and the 31st in the last 39 games.

Purkey, who had never won more than 17 games in one season, allowed eight hits, including a two-run homer by Hal Smith, in bringing his record to 20-4. His winning percentage was thus raised to .833, tops in the major leagues.

Robinson had two hits in three times at bat to raise his National League leading average to .344.

Cepeda Gets 5 Hits, Blasts Two Homers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Orlando Cepeda blasted a pair of homers, three singles and batted in four runs Friday night as the second-place San Francisco Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Billy O'Dell.

The victory, coupled with the Los Angeles Dodgers' 6-3 loss to the Mets Friday, left the Giants only 2½ games out of first place in the tight National League race.

Harvey Kuenn also homered as the Giants' southpaw posted his 16th victory of the year, an all-time major league high for him.

The Giants bumped Cal McLish for 10 hits before he left in the sixth in favor of rookie John Boozer. Singles by Kuenn and Matty Alou gave the Giants a 1-0 lead in the first inning and Kuenn's eight homer made it 2-0 in the fifth.

Cepeda opened the sixth with his 27th homer and McLish left after Felipe Alou and Chuck Hiller singled. Boozer came in and walked Kuenn with two out and the bases loaded for the Giants' fourth run.

Then, Cepeda hit his 285h homer off the youngster in the seventh and completed his perfect night at bat when he singled home the Giants' sixth run off Jim Owens in the ninth.

Bill Monbouquette Blanks Tribe, 3-0

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Bill Monbouquette limited the Indians to five hits Friday night as the Boston Red Sox blanked Cleveland, 3-0, and dropped the Indians into eighth place in the American League.

Monbouquette, who earlier this year tossed a no-hitter, fanned eight batters, a feat duplicated by loser Pete Ramos.

Ramos, who now has a 5-11 record, served up a homer to Frank Malzone in the second, and then the Sox scored in the sixth when Carl Yastrzemski led off with a double and came home on Russ Nixon's sacrifice fly.

The Sox scored a final run in the eighth when rightfielder Willie Kirkland fumbled Pete Runnel's line-drive double, enabling Lu Clinton, who had walked, to scamper all the way home.

Old Germans, Sports Shoppe Go To Finals

Snyder's, Exports Are Eliminated

The Old Germans and Sports Shoppe, the teams that finished 1-2 during the regular season in the Rec Softball League, qualified for the final playoff series yesterday when they eliminated Snyder's Grocery and the Old Exports.

Ernie Condon tossed a 2-hitter and struck out seven in twirling the Old Germans to a 7-0 triumph over Snyder's at Post Field. It marked the 6th time in seven engagements this season that the Old Gees had beaten the Grocers. The Brewers won the series opener, 1-0, and Snyder's copped the second game, 4-2.

Bill Kenney went the route for the losers, gave up nine hits and whiffed seven.

George Bishields sparked the Old Germans at the plate with three hits in four official trips while Fay Often tripled after "Chuck" Eirich singled in the second inning. Bishields sparkled at second base for the pennant winners. Ed Barley and Dick Sites accounted for Snyder's two hits. The win gave Condon a 9-2 season record. Kenney wound up with 16-10.

Rich Smith yielded two runs in the first inning and shut out the Old Exports the remainder of the route as the Sports Shoppe won the "rubber" game at Naval Reserve Field by the score of 5-2. Smith notched his 9th win against four losses while Neil Toey the loser finished with a 7-7 mark. Gene Hess started on the mound for the Old Export but retired in the third inning with a sore arm.

The Old Exports scored their runs in the opening frame when "Dump" Younger rapped a double to left that scored Hank Page and Dick Peck. The Brewers' third hit was Chaney's single in the 6th.

Ronnie Speir hit a leadoff homer for the Sports Shoppe in the first inning and it was his single following two walks that scored the run that broke a 2-2 deadlock in the fourth. Rich Smith batted home two runs in the 5th after Bob Russell singled and "Sonny" Method doubled.

Ohio May Stop Midget Racing After Tragedy

Two Drivers Die In Marion Crash

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The deaths of two widely-known midget car drivers in a pileup of cars during a U.S. Auto Club race Thursday night may spell the end of such racing on the local fairgrounds track.

This was indicated from several sources as officials began investigating the smashup in which Clark Templeman, 42, of Seattle, Wash., and Jim Hemmings, 27, of North Vernon, Ind., were injured fatally.

Death of the two drivers brought to six the number of deaths of USAC drivers this year.

Templeman, three times national midget car racing champion, had started five times in the Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day race. He was rated one of the race's top contenders, and had finished 11th in the classic this year. He was fourth in the big race in 1961. He had been a keen competitor on both big and little tracks in the country for 17 years.

Hemmings was a relative newcomer to big time racing, having been competing since 1955. He failed to qualify after being nominated for the 500 this year.

Templeman died in Marion General Hospital shortly after the crash, and Hemmings was dead on arrival. USAC racing director Henry Banks said in Indianapolis that a preliminary report showed 11 cars were involved in the accident in one degree or another. He said the cars were tightly bunched on the half-mile dirt track when Templeman went into a slide and was hit broadside.

Two other drivers in the pileup were injured but not seriously.

Chicagoan Wins Grand American Handicap Title

Milton Youngs, 51, Trapshoot Victor

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Milton Youngs, 51-year-old Chicago police detective, won the 63rd Grand American Handicap trapshoot Friday by defeating K. F. Kiplinger of Lewisville, Ind., 23-22 in a shoot-off after they had tied at 99-100.

It was a gruelling day for the bushy-haired Chicago grandfather. He missed either his third or eighth, he couldn't remember which, but went on to break his 99 from the 20-yard line. He was the 213th shooter in a field of 2,455, greatest in the event's history.

For more than eight hours he was forced to sweat it out as the more than 2,000 contestants made a run at him and failed.

Kiplinger, a 59-year-old garage mechanic, fired from the 23-yard line. He went through his first 83 targets without a miss but failed to shatter the next one on an angle shot and dropped into the deadlock.

In the pressure-packed shoot-off with the coveted title, a 12-place setting of silverware and a heavy portion of the purse riding on the result, Youngs broke 23 of 25 to take it all as Kiplinger missed three times.

Moose Edge Vets, 7-6, Take 2-0 Series Lead

Rack Up 14 Blows, Phillips Winner, Third Tilt Monday

Scoring in every inning but the fifth, the Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Veterans of Foreign Wars yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 7-6 and took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Hayden Phillips scattered six hits, struck out four and failed to issue a pass in defeating the regular season champions for the fourth straight time. It was Phillips' 10th win of the season against a single setback and the Moose team's sixth win in 10 starts against the Vets.

Pete Elliott, who supplanted Charlie Day on the rubber for the Vets in the 5th inning was tagged with the loss when the Moose rallied for two runs in the 6th to score a come-from-behind victory. In that frame Dick Klavuhn singled, moved to second on Manager Herman Lewis' sacrifice and scored the run that knotted the count at 6-6 on Phillips' triple. Donnie Gibson singled home Phillips with what proved to be the winning run.

Bob Keyser with three singles and Donnie Gibson with a two-bagger and two singles paced the Moose swatsmiths who racked up 14 hits, eight off Day and six off Elliott. Mickey Cunningham and Pete Cecil garnered two singles each and Klavuhn collected a two-bagger and single.

The Vets scored four of their six runs in the 5th inning on two hits and two errors.

Pete Cecil at first base and Lewis at short were the Moose fielding stars.

The Vets' six hits included a three-base wallop by Ronnie Cage.

The third game of the series is set for Monday at 6 p.m., at Stitcher Field.

Jack Fisher Is Victor In Second Game

Turley Is Bombed For 9 Runs; Estrada Fans 10 In Opener

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Three two-run homers, five doubles, a triple and 11 singles plus the seven-hit pitching of Jack Fisher powered Baltimore to a 14-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday night after the Orioles won the opener, 6-2.

The Orioles bombed Yankee second game starter Bob Turley, who went four innings, for nine runs on 7 of their 9 extra base hits and 11 of their total of 20 hits. The home runs, all off Turley, were by Jim Gentile, Gus Triandos and John Powell.

Powell and Russ Snyder had four hits apiece and Jerry Adair had five.

Scoring in each of the first six innings, Baltimore tallied a run in the first inning, three in the second, another in the third and four in the fourth off Turley. Yankee reliever Roland Sheldon was touched for two more runs in the fifth and the final three Oriole runs in the sixth.

Chuck Estrada held the Yankees to five hits and struck out 10 in Baltimore's first-game victory. It was his first win in 40 days and his sixth against 13 defeats.

The Orioles hopped on Yankee starter Jim Bouton for four runs in the second inning. After Gentile walked and Brooks Robinson singled him to third, Powell struck out. Hobie Landrith then tripled for two runs and scored the third on Marv Breeding's suicide-squeeze bunt single. Breeding scored on Estrada's sacrifice and Snyder's single.

After Cletis Boyer followed Dale Long's walk to open the third inning with his 17th home run, to make it 4-2. Estrada blanked the Yankees the rest of the way on three singles.

Tigers Clobber Senators, 11-1

DETROIT (UPI) — Steve Boros connected for a grand slam home run in the first inning and Detroit teammates Rocky Colavito and Bill Bruton later homered to back righthander Phil Regan to an easy 11-1 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night.

Boros, who tied an American League record for third basemen with four errors Thursday, regained his lost pride by belting his first major league grand slammer off loser Pete Burnside. It was Boros' 13th homer of the year and followed Bruton's single and two walks.

Colavito made it 6-0 with his 29th round tripper off Burnside after Al Kaline had singled with two outs in the second.

Bruton connected for his 12th homer with Dick Brown and Regan on base in the sixth against relief man Ed Hobaugh. Chico Fernandez and Colavito rapped the Senators' last hurler, Marty Kutyna, for two run-scoring singles in the eighth.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Ted Campbell, biggest boy ever to play in the Little League World Series at 6-foot-1 and 210 pounds, will pitch for San Jose, Calif., against Kankakee, Ill., in the final game Saturday.

The sub-par round was good enough to tie him with Downey. Fanning toured the front nine in a one-under par 34 and clipped three strokes off par on the back nine, coming in with a 32.

Mark Silvers of Georgia moved into second place, right on the heels of Riley, with a 213. Silvers shot a 35-33 for a two-under par 68 in the third round.

Dick Orr of Oklahoma shot an even par 70 for a 215 total and fifth place while Andy Nusbaum of Kansas held down sixth place with 216 after a 72 Friday.

The final round will be played Saturday.

South African Doubles Team Scores Upset

Forbes, Drysdale Beat Aussie Pair

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — South African tennis stars Gordon Forbes and Cliff Drysdale pulled off their second National Doubles upset in 48 hours Friday when they toppled Australian stars Rod Laver and Fred Stolle.

Forbes, 28, and Drysdale, 21, had to go 92 games to upset the Aussies, third foreign seeds here, 4-6, 12-10, 2-6, 11-9, 17-15.

The 3-hour, 34-minute match exceeded by 26 games the previous high for the tournament.

The South Africans first assumed the upset role here on Wednesday when they knocked out the second-ranking United States team of Bill Bond and Don Dell.

In the other semifinal match Friday, Mexican Davis Cuppers Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox continued their domination of the United States team by taking the third-seeded domestic tandem out of the eight-day tourney.

The Mexican campaigners, recent victors over the United States in American Zone cup play, eliminated the third-seeded domestic team of Ramsey Earnhart and Marty Riessen in humiliating straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 9-7.

Loss of the third domestic entry meant that only the top-seeded pair of Chuck Mc Kinley and Dennis Ralston remained in the field for the 82nd annual championships.

In a women's semifinal set, the ranking U.S. team of Karen Hantze Susman, 20, of San Antonio, Tex., and Billie Jean Moffitt, 19, of Long Beach, Calif., routed the veteran Wilmington, Del., team of Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont and Margaret Varner, 6-2, 6-3.

Victory by Susman and Moffitt put them in the finals with either the second U.S. twosome of Darlene Hard and Maria Bueno, or the South African pairing of Renee Schuurman and Mrs. Sandra Reynolds Price. That semi - final match will be played Saturday and the final on Sunday.

Cepeda Gets 5 Hits, Blasts Two Homers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Orlando Cepeda blasted a pair of homers, three singles and batted in four runs Friday night as the second-place San Francisco Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-0, behind the five - hit pitching of Billy O'Dell.

The victory, coupled with the Los Angeles Dodgers' 6-3 loss to the Mets Friday, left the Giants only 2½ games out of first place in the tight National League race.

Harvey Kuenn also homered as the Giants' southpaw posted his 16th victory of the year, an all-time major league high for him.

The Giants bumped Cal McLish for 10 hits before he left in the sixth in favor of rookie John Boozer. Singles by Kuenn and Matty Alou gave the Giants a 1-0 lead in the first inning and Kuenn's eight homer made it 2-0 in the fifth.

Cepeda opened the sixth with his 27th homer and McLish left after Felipe Alou and Chuck Hiller singled. Boozer came in and walked Kuenn with two out and the bases loaded for the Giants' fourth run.

Then, Cepeda hit his 285h homer off the youngster in the seventh and completed his perfect night at bat when he singled home the Giants' sixth run off Jim Owens in the ninth.

The Sox scored a final run in the eighth when rightfielder Willie Kirkland fumbled Pete Runnel's line-drive double, enabling Lu Clinton, who had walked, to scamper all the way home.

Snyder's, Exports Are Eliminated

The Old Germans and Sports Shoppe, the teams that finished 1-2 during the regular season in the Rec Softball League, qualified for the final playoff series yesterday when they eliminated Snyder's Grocery and the Old Exports.

Ernie Condon tossed a 2-hitter and struck out seven in twirling the Old Germans to a 7-0 triumph over Snyder's at Post Field. It marked the 6th time in seven engagements this season that the Old Gees had beaten the Grocers. The Brewers won the series opener, 1-0, and Snyder's copped the second game, 4-2.

Bill Kenney went the route for the losers, gave up nine hits and whiffed seven.

Bishields sparkled at second base for the pennant winners. Ed Barley and Dick Sites accounted for Snyder's two hits. The win gave Condon a 9-2 season record. Kenney wound up with 16-10.

Rich Smith yielded two runs in the first inning and shut out the Old Exports the remainder of the route as the Sports Shoppe won the "rubber" game at Naval Reserve Field by the score of 5-2. Smith notched his 9th win against four losses while Neil Toey the loser finished with a 7-7 mark. Gene Hess started on the mound for the Old Export but retired in the third inning with a sore arm.

Ronnie Speir hit a leadoff homer for the Sports Shoppe in the first inning and it was his single following two walks that scored the run that broke a 2-2 deadlock in the fourth. Rich Smith batted home two runs in the 5th after Bob Russell singled and "Sonny" Method doubled.

Ohio May Stop Midget Racing After Tragedy

Two Drivers Die In Marion Crash

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The deaths of two widely-known midget car drivers in a pileup of cars during a U.S. Auto Club race Thursday night may spell the end of such racing on the local fairgrounds track.

This was indicated from several sources as officials began investigating the smashup in which Clark Templeman, 42, of Seattle, Wash., and Jim Hemmings, 27, of North Vernon, Ind., were injured fatally.

Death of the two drivers brought to six the number of deaths of USAC drivers this year.

Templeman, three times national midget car racing champion, had started five times in the Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day race. He was rated one of the race's top contenders, and had finished 11th in the classic this year. He was fourth in the big race in 1961. He had been a keen competitor on both big and little tracks in the country for 17 years.

Hemmings was a relative newcomer to big time racing, having been competing since 1955. He failed to qualify after being nominated for the 500 this year.

Templeman died in Marion General Hospital shortly after the crash, and Hemmings was dead on arrival. USAC racing director Henry Banks said in Indianapolis that a preliminary report showed 11 cars were involved in the accident in one degree or another. He said the cars were tightly bunched on the half-mile dirt track when Templeman went into a slide and was hit broadside.

Two other drivers in the pileup were injured but not seriously.

Chicagoan Wins Grand American Handicap Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Milton Youngs, 51-year-old Chicago police detective, won the 63rd Grand American Handicap trapshoot Friday by defeating K. F. Kiplinger of Lewisville, Ind., 23-22 in a shoot-off after they had tied at 99-100.

It was a gruelling day for the bushy-haired Chicago grandfather. He missed either his third or eighth, he couldn't remember which, but went on to break his 99 from the 20-yard line. He was the 213th shooter in a field of 2,455, greatest in the event's history.

For more than eight hours he was forced to sweat it out as the more than 2,000 contestants made a run at him and failed.

Kiplinger, a 59-year-old garage mechanic, fired from the 23-yard line. He went through his first 83 targets without a miss but failed to shatter the next one on an angle shot and dropped into the deadlock.

In the pressure-packed shoot-off with the coveted title, a 12-place setting of silverware and a heavy portion of the purse riding on the result, Youngs broke 23 of 25 to take it all as Kiplinger missed three times.

Scoring in every inning but the fifth, the Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Veterans of Foreign Wars yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 7-6 and took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five final playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Frostburg Victory At Hyndman Would Decide Pen-Mar Flag Race

Tie Possible If Pennsy Club Wins Sunday

Victor In Mt. Savage, Grantsville Battle Could Catch Leader

The Pen-Mar Baseball League pennant race which opened April 22 draws to a close Sunday with the Frostburg at Hyndman and Grantsville at Mt. Savage games holding the interest of the fans as the outcome of these contests will determine the first three places in the seven-club circuit.

Frostburg's Merchants could wrap up their first pennant by defeating Hyndman but the flag race would end in a tie if Frostburg loses and either Grantsville or Mt. Savage wins.

If Race Ends In Tie

In event the race ends in a tie the teams will meet in a single game to determine the pennant winner as in 1960 when Barrelville and Hyndman wound up with 19-9 records and the former won the playoff game, 6-3. Last season Barrelville defeated Moorefield in a playoff game, 13-6, after they finished the regular season tied for third place with 16-12 records.

Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli's Mountain City tossers hold a one-game lead with a 16-7 record while Mt. Savage and Grantsville are deadlocked for second place with 15 wins and 8 losses each. Barrelville in fourth place has completed its schedule and is 14-10.

Frostburg Holds Edge

Frostburg holds a 2-1 edge in its series with Hyndman, having won by scores of 2-1 and 6-5 while losing 12-5. Mt. Savage has whipped Grantsville twice, 9-5 and 7-6 and lost the other game 8-3.

Last season Hyndman won the pennant and Frostburg was the playoff winner.

Tomorrow's games are slated to start at 2:30 p. m.

During the past thirteen years of the league's operation Barrelville has won five regular season championships, Hyndman, three, Wellersburg, two, and Grantsville, Keyser Ridge and Klondyke one each.

Hyndman Is Missing

Hyndman will be missing from the playoffs for the first time in five years. The Pennsylvanians made it in 1961, 1960, 1959 and 1957. They were not in the league in 1958. Mt. Savage last made the playoffs in 1959 when Grantsville and Salisbury were disqualified. Grantsville was not in the league in 1960 and 1961. Frostburg made its debut in 1960.

Beatty Sets 5th American Track Record In 16 Days

Run In Finland Meet In 13:45 Cops 5,000 Meter

TURKU, Finland (UPI) — Jim Beatty of the Los Angeles Track Club set a new American track record for the fifth time in 16 days Friday when he won the 5,000-meetr run in 13 minutes and 45 seconds during an international meet.

The little speedster broke his own American mark of 13:51.8 and came within 10 seconds of the world 5,20000-meter record held by Russia's Vladimir Kuts.

Beatty started his string of records with a clocking of 3:39.4 for 1,500 meters at Oslo, Norway, Aug. 9, and went on to set American records for 3,000 meters with a time of 7:54.2 at Avranches, France, Aug. 15, and the mile in 3:56.5 at London's White City Stadium on Aug. 18.

Although he told reporters prior to the race that he was tired. Beatty got off an exceptionally fast start and was only 1.8 seconds behind Kuts' record pace after 2,000 meters. But the 5-foot-6 former North Carolina University student slowed down in the final stages, still crossing the finishing line 165 yards ahead of the rest of the field.

Californian Sets Motorcycle Record On Utah Salt Flats

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI) — Californian Bill Johnson established a new unofficial world streamliner motorcycle speed record Friday when he streaked across the salt flats at an average two-way speed of 230.069 m.p.h.

He unofficially broke the mark of 214.87 m.p.h. set here in 1956 by Jess Thomas of Fort Worth, Tex.

Lynn Tharp, of the Goodfellowship Club; Howard Deneen, of the Cumberland Eagles and Charles Flinn, Cresaptown Firemen, have been elected to the board of directors.

The league is expected to operate with 22 teams during the coming season.

An important meeting of all team representatives will be held at the Eagles Home Monday, August 27 at 8:30 p.m.

Birds Put Hansen On Disabled List

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles put shortstop Ron Hansen on their disabled list Friday and brought up a replacement from their Elmira, N.Y., farm club.

The Orioles, of the American League, lose Hansen for 30 days, or until Sept. 24. The season ends Sept. 30.

To fill in at shortstop, they bought the contract of Mickey McGuire, batting .224 in 109 games with Elmira, which is in second place in the Class A Eastern League.

McGuire, 21, bats right handed, is 5 feet 8 inches, 171 pounds and in his third year with the Baltimore farm system.

Packers-Bears, Browns-49ers Clash Tonight

NFL Teams To Play Exhibition Games

By United Press International

The world champion Green Bay Packers make their first appearance before a home crowd since their devastating triumph over New York in last year's title game when they host the Chicago Bears in a National Football League exhibition game at Milwaukee Saturday night.

Green Bay, boasting the most explosive ground game in pro football, has shown all its old power with three straight preseason victories and last week romped over St. Louis, 41-14. The Bears have dropped two close contests to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

49ers Play Browns

The surprising San Francisco 49ers meet the Cleveland Browns in a battle of the unbeaten at Portland, Ore., Saturday night.

In other games, the Los Angeles Rams are at home to the New York Giants, the Baltimore Colts face the Dallas Cowboys at Roanoke, Va., the Washington Redskins and Philadelphia Eagles tangle at Charlotte, N.C., and the St. Louis Cardinals are at Minnesota for their first encounter ever with the Vikings.

Pittsburgh plays at Detroit next Monday night.

Both Have 2-0 Records

San Francisco, moving well behind quarterback John Brodie, has won its first two pre-season starts and last time out humiliated the Eastern Division champion Giants, 42-10. The perennially powerful Browns are also 2-0 and last week whipped Pittsburgh, 33-10.

Another outstanding quarterback job, this one by veteran Zeke Bratkowski, plus an alert defense have been responsible for the Rams winning their first two games. New York has only a tie to show for two starts.

The Cardinals (0-1-1) and Vikings (0-2) both will be seeking to break into the victory column.

Oakland will be trying for its first victory ever over San Diego when it inaugurates Frank Youell field in downtown Oakland.

Berra Injured By Foul Tip

Berra was struck when Breeding tipped an attempted bunt in the third inning. He was immediately removed from the game and replaced by Elston Howard.

The Yankees said Berra's finger was not broken and no x-rays were planned, but the veteran wss expected to be out of action for about three to seven days.

Durocher Suffers Anaphalatic Shock

Two doctors attended the ailing Durocher after a call for physicians was announced over the loudspeaker.

The official diagnosis was termed an "anaphalatic shock" resulting from the penicillin. Durocher had been treated with the drug to fight a grain infection.

Archer, Gonzalez Fight At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joey Archer, New York's fighting Irishman, is a slight favorite to avenge the only loss of his professional career when he meets Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico in a return middleweight bout at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

The scheduled 10-rounder will be televised nationally (ABC) starting at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Archer, 24, was unbeaten in 30 pro bouts when he ran into Gonzalez in the same garden ring on June 23. The 22-year-old Puerto Rican punched his way to a split decision over Joey, who looked a little rusty after a nine - month layoff.

Archer has chalked up seven knockouts in winning 30 of 31 bouts. Gonzalez has a record of 21 victories, six losses and a draw but has kayoed only four opponents.

Jockey Pappas Is Fined $100

Addesa Suspended After Fist Fight

Addesa was suspended for 10 days to follow his current suspension, which started Friday, for attacking Pappas in the unsaddling enclosure and for using foul and abusive language to a track official. Adessa's first suspension was for careless riding earlier in the week.

Frostburg Victory At Hyndman Would Decide Pen-Mar Flag Race

Tie Possible If Pennsy Club Wins Sunday

Victor In Mt. Savage, Grantsville Battle Could Catch Leader

The Pen-Mar Baseball League pennant race which opened April 22 draws to a close Sunday with the Frostburg at Hyndman and Grantsville at Mt. Savage games holding the interest of the fans as the outcome of these contests will determine the first three places in the seven-club circuit.

Frostburg's Merchants could wrap up their first pennant by defeating Hyndman but the flag race would end in a tie if Frostburg loses and either Grantsville or Mt. Savage wins.

If Race Ends In Tie

In event the race ends in a tie the teams will meet in a single game to determine the pennant winner as in 1960 when Barrelville and Hyndman wound up with 19-9 records and the former won the playoff game, 6-3. Last season Barrelville defeated Moorefield in a playoff game, 13-6, after they finished the regular season tied for third place with 16-12 records.

Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli's Mountain City tossers hold a one-game lead with a 16-7 record while Mt. Savage and Grantsville are deadlocked for second place with 15 wins and 8 losses each. Barrelville in fourth place has completed its schedule and is 14-10.

Frostburg Holds Edge

Frostburg holds a 2-1 edge in its series with Hyndman, having won by scores of 2-1 and 6-5 while losing 12-5. Mt. Savage has whipped Grantsville twice, 9-5 and 7-6 and lost the other game 8-3.

Last season Hyndman won the pennant and Frostburg was the playoff winner.

The third game on tap for tomorrow brings Flintstone and Lonaconing together at Lonaconing. Lonaconing holds a 2-1 edge in this series.

Tomorrow's games are slated to start at 2:30 p. m.

During the past thirteen years of the league's operation Barrelville has won five regular season championships, Hyndman, three, Wellersburg, two, and Grantsville, Keyser Ridge and Klondyke one each.

Hyndman Is Missing

Hyndman will be missing from the playoffs for the first time in five years. The Pennsylvanians made it in 1961, 1960, 1959 and 1957. They were not in the league in 1958. Mt. Savage last made the playoffs in 1959 when Grantsville and Salisbury were disqualified. Grantsville was not in the league in 1960 and 1961. Frostburg made its debut in 1960.

Beatty Sets 5th American Track Record In 16 Days

Run In Finland Meet In 13:45 Cops 5,000 Meter

TURKU, Finland (UPI) — Jim Beatty of the Los Angeles Track Club set a new American track record for the fifth time in 16 days Friday when he won the 5,000-meetr run in 13 minutes and 45 seconds during an international meet.

The little speedster broke his own American mark of 13:51.8 and came within 10 seconds of the world 5,20000-meter record held by Russia's Vladimir Kuts.

Beatty started his string of records with a clocking of 3:39.4 for 1,500 meters at Oslo, Norway, Aug. 9, and went on to set American records for 3,000 meters with a time of 7:54.2 at Avranches, France, Aug. 15, and the mile in 3:56.5 at London's White City Stadium on Aug. 18.

Beatty, who vowed he'd bring home some records from this European trip, ran almost all by himself Friday night on a fast track in chilly weather.

Although he told reporters prior to the race that he was tired. Beatty got off an exceptionally fast start and was only 1.8 seconds behind Kuts' record pace after 2,000 meters. But the 5-foot-6 former North Carolina University student slowed down in the final stages, still crossing the finishing line 165 yards ahead of the rest of the field.

Californian Sets Motorcycle Record On Utah Salt Flats

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI) — Californian Bill Johnson established a new unofficial world streamliner motorcycle speed record Friday when he streaked across the salt flats at an average two-way speed of 230.069 m.p.h.

He unofficially broke the mark of 214.87 m.p.h. set here in 1956 by Jess Thomas of Fort Worth, Tex.

The 38-year-old truck driver from Garden Grove was clocked at 232.258 m.p.h. on the first run in his streamlined Triumph Motorcycle. He averaged 228.281 m.p.h. on his return run.

The record was set during the Bonneville National Speed Trials underway on the sun-splashed salt flats.

Lynn Tharp, of the Goodfellowship Club; Howard Deneen, of the Cumberland Eagles and Charles Flinn, Cresaptown Firemen, have been elected to the board of directors.

The league is expected to operate with 22 teams during the coming season.

An important meeting of all team representatives will be held at the Eagles Home Monday, August 27 at 8:30 p.m.

Birds Put Hansen On Disabled List

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles put shortstop Ron Hansen on their disabled list Friday and brought up a replacement from their Elmira, N.Y., farm club.

The Orioles, of the American League, lose Hansen for 30 days, or until Sept. 24. The season ends Sept. 30.

To fill in at shortstop, they bought the contract of Mickey McGuire, batting .224 in 109 games with Elmira, which is in second place in the Class A Eastern League.

McGuire, 21, bats right handed, is 5 feet 8 inches, 171 pounds and in his third year with the Baltimore farm system.

Packers-Bears, Browns-49ers Clash Tonight

NFL Teams To Play Exhibition Games

By United Press International

The world champion Green Bay Packers make their first appearance before a home crowd since their devastating triumph over New York in last year's title game when they host the Chicago Bears in a National Football League exhibition game at Milwaukee Saturday night.

Green Bay, boasting the most explosive ground game in pro football, has shown all its old power with three straight preseason victories and last week romped over St. Louis, 41-14. The Bears have dropped two close contests to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

49ers Play Browns

The surprising San Francisco 49ers meet the Cleveland Browns in a battle of the unbeaten at Portland, Ore., Saturday night.

In other games, the Los Angeles Rams are at home to the New York Giants, the Baltimore Colts face the Dallas Cowboys at Roanoke, Va., the Washington Redskins and Philadelphia Eagles tangle at Charlotte, N.C., and the St. Louis Cardinals are at Minnesota for their first encounter ever with the Vikings.

Pittsburgh plays at Detroit next Monday night.

Both Have 2-0 Records

San Francisco, moving well behind quarterback John Brodie, has won its first two pre-season starts and last time out humiliated the Eastern Division champion Giants, 42-10. The perennially powerful Browns are also 2-0 and last week whipped Pittsburgh, 33-10.

Another outstanding quarterback job, this one by veteran Zeke Bratkowski, plus an alert defense have been responsible for the Rams winning their first two games. New York has only a tie to show for two starts.

Philadelphia evened its exhibition record at 1-1 by beating Chicago last week. The Redskins have lost two in a row.

The Cardinals (0-1-1) and Vikings (0-2) both will be seeking to break into the victory column.

Oakland will be trying for its first victory ever over San Diego when it inaugurates Frank Youell field in downtown Oakland.

Berra Injured By Foul Tip

Berra was struck when Breeding tipped an attempted bunt in the third inning. He was immediately removed from the game and replaced by Elston Howard.

The Yankees said Berra's finger was not broken and no x-rays were planned, but the veteran wss expected to be out of action for about three to seven days.

League Offers Trophy

A trophy offered by the league will go to the low net scorer in Sunday's matches in the Industrial Golf League.

B. & O. meets King's Bar at 8 a. m., Sports Shoppe opposes Goodfellowship Club at 11 a. m., and McFarland's Auto Shop tackles Kelly-Springfield at 2 p. m., on the Fort Cumberland Club course.

Chicago Cracks Braves' 5-Game Win Streak, 7-2

Bob Buhl Cops 10th, Aaron Clouts 34th

Pitching in 90-degree heat, Buhl limited his former teammates to six hits, picking up his 10th victory against nine losses.

The Cubs scored all the runs Buhl needed in the first two innings when they rapped out seven of their hits for five runs, including doubles by George Altman, Cuno Barragan and Lou Brock. Brock had a perfect day at the plate with three other hits and an intentional pass.

Durocher Suffers Anaphalatic Shock

Two doctors attended the ailing Durocher after a call for physicians was announced over the loudspeaker.

The official diagnosis was termed an "anaphalatic shock" resulting from the penicillin. Durocher had been treated with the drug to fight a grain infection.

Archer, Gonzalez Fight At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joey Archer, New York's fighting Irishman, is a slight favorite to avenge the only loss of his professional career when he meets Jose Gonzalez of Puerto Rico in a return middleweight bout at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

The scheduled 10-rounder will be televised nationally (ABC) starting at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Archer, 24, was unbeaten in 30 pro bouts when he ran into Gonzalez in the same garden ring on June 23. The 22-year-old Puerto Rican punched his way to a split decision over Joey, who looked a little rusty after a nine - month layoff.

Archer has chalked up seven knockouts in winning 30 of 31 bouts. Gonzalez has a record of 21 victories, six losses and a draw but has kayoed only four opponents.

Jockey Pappas Is Fined $100

Addesa Suspended After Fist Fight

Addesa was suspended for 10 days to follow his current suspension, which started Friday, for attacking Pappas in the unsaddling enclosure and for using foul and abusive language to a track official. Adessa's first suspension was for careless riding earlier in the week.

Stock Market Irregular; D-J Industrials Off 2.25

The D-J rails were up 0.47 and utilities 0.45, the latter apparently mirroring a gain of 1¾ in Panhandle.

A total of 1,221 issues crossed the tape Friday of which 474 declined and 467 advanced — 5 to new 1962 highs and 3 to new lows.

Drugs were lower following Senate passage of drug control legislation tightening federal reins of prescription drugs. Bristol-Myers, Sterling Drug, Merck, Abbott Labs, Norwich Pharmacal and American Home Products all dropped 1 or more.

Electronics were erratic with Beckman off 1 and IBM off 1½ but Motorola, Litton and Zenith up fractions to a point. Steels were irregularly lower with U.S. Steel off ⅞ and Allegheny-Ludlum up 1.

Bob Elmer Named

Elmer had been publicity director for the former Baltimore Clippers of the Eastern Hockey League some five years ago.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Most grain futures posted losses of major fractions to over a cent Friday on the Chicago Board of trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to 1, corn off 1⅛ to 1¼, oats off ¼ to ⅝, rye unchanged to off ¾ and soybeans off ½ to 1½.

Selling pressure was scattered for the most part, although wheat and soybeans met rather heavy sales at the outside and corn near the close. Buying interest lagged.

Brokers said rain in parts of the corn belt and a favorable private crop report dampened interest in feed grains. Wheat traders stood on the sidelines to await the fate of a Senate-passed farm bill in the House.

The wheat trade was largely local in nature. Prices rallied after an early decline in a mixed commission trade, and a few commercial houses bought September and sold December. There was a little Northwest hedging.

Corn futures weakened on selling by commission houses and Northwest brokers. Floor traders spread between March and May contracts.

Oats started steady and then became easier in a mixed commission trade.

The soybean market was unsettled, and prices dropped more than a cent. Rain reports prompted an early selloff, and some dealers took profits from Thursday's late strong rally. Meal and oil also declined.

Exporters sold 780,000 bushels of hard wheat to Israel. Spain bought 9,000 tons of soybean meal for October-November shipment.

Outside markets were mixed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Stock Market Irregular; D-J Industrials Off 2.25

Dow - Jones industrial average slipped 2.25, chiefly reflecting a drop of 1¼ in Alcoa and General Electric and 1¾ in International Nickel.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.12 and trading totaled 2,890,000 shares compared with 4,770,000 in the previous sessions.

The D-J rails were up 0.47 and utilities 0.45, the latter apparently mirroring a gain of 1¾ in Panhandle.

A total of 1,221 issues crossed the tape Friday of which 474 declined and 467 advanced — 5 to new 1962 highs and 3 to new lows.

Drugs were lower following Senate passage of drug control legislation tightening federal reins of prescription drugs. Bristol-Myers, Sterling Drug, Merck, Abbott Labs, Norwich Pharmacal and American Home Products all dropped 1 or more.

Electronics were erratic with Beckman off 1 and IBM off 1½ but Motorola, Litton and Zenith up fractions to a point. Steels were irregularly lower with U.S. Steel off ⅞ and Allegheny-Ludlum up 1.

Bob Elmer Named

Elmer had been publicity director for the former Baltimore Clippers of the Eastern Hockey League some five years ago.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Most grain futures posted losses of major fractions to over a cent Friday on the Chicago Board of trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to 1, corn off 1⅛ to 1¼, oats off ¼ to ⅝, rye unchanged to off ¾ and soybeans off ½ to 1½.

Selling pressure was scattered for the most part, although wheat and soybeans met rather heavy sales at the outside and corn near the close. Buying interest lagged.

Brokers said rain in parts of the corn belt and a favorable private crop report dampened interest in feed grains. Wheat traders stood on the sidelines to await the fate of a Senate-passed farm bill in the House.

The wheat trade was largely local in nature. Prices rallied after an early decline in a mixed commission trade, and a few commercial houses bought September and sold December. There was a little Northwest hedging.

Corn futures weakened on selling by commission houses and Northwest brokers. Floor traders spread between March and May contracts.

Oats started steady and then became easier in a mixed commission trade.

The soybean market was unsettled, and prices dropped more than a cent. Rain reports prompted an early selloff, and some dealers took profits from Thursday's late strong rally. Meal and oil also declined.

Exporters sold 780,000 bushels of hard wheat to Israel. Spain bought 9,000 tons of soybean meal for October-November shipment.

Outside markets were mixed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Lonaconing VFW Supports Work In Rec Area

Picnic Scheduled For Sept. 2

LONACONING — Resolutions in support of efforts to improve the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area were sent to Joseph F. Taylor and to the State Board of Works at Baltimore at the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, meeting Thursday evening at the Lonaconing VFW home.

Commander Ernest Thrasher was presiding officer and announces the resolutions will be forwarded immediately concerning the Dans Mountain Recreation Area which serves this area worthily.

The annual outdoor picnic will be held on Sunday, Sept. 2, for members and social members starting at 1 p.m. at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area, it was announced by Commander Thrasher.

A donation of $75 was made to the Scholarship Fund of the Bishop Murray Day School, which is being started this year by the St. Peter's Episcopal Church kindergarten to help those families who cannot afford the full tuition to have some monetary assistance for their children to enroll in the Day School. Local organizations are being contacted by Rev. Leslee E. Schwindt, a member of the VFW post, to contribute to this Scholarship Fund.

A hospital visit will be made this Sunday, to the Veterans hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., with the Lonaconing veterans joining the caravan from this area association. Onas D. Hanekamp is chairman for the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, VFW, in sending a delegation to the VA hospital with gifts and entertainment for the hospitalized veterans.

Local organizations are being contacted by Rev. Leslee E. Schwindt, a member of the VFW post, to contribute to this Scholarship Fund.

A hospital visit will be made this Sunday, to the Veterans hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., with the Lonaconing veterans joining the caravan from this area association. Onas D. Blaze Levels Storage Unit In Barton

Firemen Use Dozer To Scatter Debris

A storage building in Barton was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon and members of the Barton Volunteer Fire Company worked for more than five hours to keep the spectacular blaze from damaging neighboring structures.

The fire, which broke out about 3 p.m. leveled the two-story frame building in the south end of Barton owned by Mayor A. P. Hoffa of Barton.

Chief Hamill W. Snyder said the alarm was phoned in about 3 p.m. and the fire was already out of control when the fire company arrived.

He said flames from the building, which contained some 30 tons of baled hay and 260 bushels of oats, were shooting 40 feet into the air during the height of the fire.

Does Not Spread

Chief Snyder said the nearby Barton Theater was not damaged, and that firemen managed to prevent the flames from spreading to homes across the road.

Only constant wetting down saved the structures, firemen said, since at times the endangered homes across the road were too hot to touch.

Chief Snyder said men had to be pulled back several times when the wind changed.

Water used to fight the stubborn flames was secured from trucks pumping water from Georges Creek by a line from a nearby fire hydrant, and by a tanker truck.

The Lonaconing Volunteer Fire Company helped for half an hour until the fire was under control.

Traffic Under Control

Chief Snyder said the fire was believed to have started from spontaneous ignition of some of the stored materials.

The building was of frame construction, about 10 by 40 feet, and was a total loss.

Firemen late last night were using a bulldozer to spread the smoldering bales of hay so it could be wet down.

County Donates Another $400 To CUF Fund

An additional $400 contribution to the County United Fund was approved yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Action was taken by Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon upon the request of Woodward D. Pealer, CUF president. Commissioner John T. Mason is away on vacation.

The county commissioners yesterday also received a report from George B. Newman, president of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital, concerning the proposed improvements to the hospital. The county commissioners will be asked to finance $500,000 of the $1,677,104 cost of the improvements.

Edith G. Hutchinson was given a probationary appointment yesterday by the county commissioners as a practical nurse at Sylvan Retreat.

Woman, Boy Hit By Car

A Frostburg woman and her grandson were struck by a car on Main Street in Frostburg at 10:15 p. m. yesterday. The woman was hospitalized but the boy had only a bruise.

Mrs. Lula Noonan, 54, of Mechanic Street, was knocked under a parked car when she was struck by a car driven by Martin LaRue, 69, of RFD 2, Eckhart.

Assistant Chief Leslie Bevans and Officer Alan Robison said the woman and child were struck in a pedestrian crosswalk in front of St. Michael's Catholic Church.

LaRue posted $127.90 on two state motor charges.

Dozer Catches Fire

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company was called to Potomac Park yesterday after a bulldozer caught fire. Firemen said the blaze was out when they arrived, adding the fire was reported as being on Avenue D but was on B.

Ecsapees Are Sought

City and state police yesterday were seeking two minor boys, one of them from here, who escaped from the Maryland Training School Wednesday.

SRC To Offer Choice Of Road Finance Plans

Funk Explains Long-Range Study

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — John B. Funk, State Roads Commission director, said Friday the 1963 legislature will be offered several choices of ways to raise more money to continue Maryland's building program.

At the same time, he told the Maryland County Commissioners Association that a current study of future road needs will include "maintenance, reconstruction of existing roads, and that means all secondary and municipal streets as well as new roads."

State aid for maintenance of secondary roads and streets within cities such as Baltimore has been a subject of some discontent among local officials hard pressed for matching funds.

State aid for maintenance is limited to revenues from the automobile titling tax. Expenses for the motor vehicle department and State Police are taken out first and the remainder is divided half to the state, 30 per cent to Baltimore City, and 20 per cent among the 23 counties.

Pressure For Change

There has been strong pressure from county governments for more of the titling tax funds, particularly in relation to the proportion distributed to Baltimore City.

Funk said that the study of Maryland's road requirements for the next 20 years will cover all 25,000 miles of county and city roads, not only throughways.

He also said the study and recommendations will be subject to review every four years like the Maryland 12 - year program for roads which is expiring.

"We may be able to see clearly four or five years ahead," Funk said. "But we have no crystal ball and the rest of the 20-year program will be outlined in broad strokes. The specifics are hard to pin down."

For that reason, Funk said it is contemplated to "update the needs every four years so the newly-elected state officials may look at them and the accompanying financial needs."

Several Plans

As for the financing, Funk said an independent consultant will suggest three or four methods to the next legislature.

The state financed its current 12-year program by increasing the tax on gasoline to six cents a gallon. Originally it was planned to raise the fee for license plates but, after several yearly postponements, this was dropped.

Earlier Friday, the state director of civil defense urged the commissioners to support local defense programs.

The United States without civil defense would be "like the prize fighter with a glass jaw," said Maj. Gen. Rinaldo Van Brunt, USA Ret.

"Perhaps he can dish it out, but he can't take it," Van Brunt said.

The director of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency asked the commissioners "not to be led by the misguidance in the nation of those who favor scrapping civil defense and even suggest that we scrap all defenses."

Van Brunt said the defense preparedness in Maryland is the best it has ever been.

Depreciation Tax Guidelines Eased By State

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Friday Maryland will adopt for its state income tax the new depreciation guidelines and rules issued by the Internal Revenue Service.

Goldstein said Maryland's income tax law provides for a reasonable allowance for exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in trade or business. It also authorizes the comptroller to apply administrative and judicial interpretations of the federal income tax law to the state income tax.

Goldstein said by adopting the new regulations the state "can eliminate an inherent problem which would develop if our taxpayers were required to file state and federal returns under different methods of computing the allowable depreciation."

In addition, he said, taxpayers will receive a tax benefit in their Maryland returns in proportion to what they receive on federal returns.

Blaze Levels Storage Unit In Barton

Firemen Use Dozer To Scatter Debris

A storage building in Barton was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon and members of the Barton Volunteer Fire Company worked for more than five hours to keep the spectacular blaze from damaging neighboring structures.

The fire, which broke out about 3 p.m. leveled the two-story frame building in the south end of Barton owned by Mayor A. P. Hoffa of Barton.

Chief Hamill W. Snyder said the alarm was phoned in about 3 p.m. and the fire was already out of control when the fire company arrived.

He said flames from the building, which contained some 30 tons of baled hay and 260 bushels of oats, were shooting 40 feet into the air during the height of the fire.

Does Not Spread

Chief Snyder said the nearby Barton Theater was not damaged, and that firemen managed to prevent the flames from spreading to homes across the road.

Only constant wetting down saved the structures, firemen said, since at times the endangered homes across the road were too hot to touch.

Chief Snyder said men had to be pulled back several times when the wind changed.

Water used to fight the stubborn flames was secured from trucks pumping water from Georges Creek by a line from a nearby fire hydrant, and by a tanker truck.

The Lonaconing Volunteer Fire Company helped for half an hour until the fire was under control.

Traffic Under Control

Chief Snyder said the fire was believed to have started from spontaneous ignition of some of the stored materials.

The building was of frame construction, about 10 by 40 feet, and was a total loss.

Firemen late last night were using a bulldozer to spread the smoldering bales of hay so it could be wet down.

Wills Creek Avenue Job Authorized

Mrs. Roeder Asks For Specifications

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday she has been authorized by the Mayor and Council to advertise for bids for the improvement of Wills Creek Avenue.

She said she has asked City Engineer C. R. Nuzum to prepare plans and specifications and get the project ready to advertise.

Mrs. Roeder said the appropriations ordinance adpoted Thursday did not include specific funds for the project, and that it will have to be financed from funds included for street and alley paving.

Mrs. Roeder said she made it clear to city officials, before the ordinance was passed, that it did not include appropriations for a number of items which was included in her budget request.

The budget requests, she said, included a $50,000 item for extending North George Street from Frederick Street to Bedford Street, and $90,000 for the widening of Bedford Street.

She also pointed out that $15,000 asked for the first section of the Brinker Run storm sewer line, $3,400 for Blackiston Avenue and $14,000 for White Oaks Avenue, from Oldtown Road to the Industrial Boulevard, were not put in the final ordinance.

Death Of Local Man By Train Is Ruled Accident

A coroner's jury meeting in Keyser yesterday afternoon ruled that Charles Thornton James, 44, of Cumberland, died as a result of accidental means.

Mr. James was decapitated by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train in Keyser Wednesday.

Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, acting coroner, was in charge of the inquest yesterday afternoon.

The coroner's jury ruled, Miss Bazzle said, that Mr. James came to his death by accidental means, due to being run over by a train.

The body of Mr. James, who had been residing with his parents for several weeks, was found on the westbound track of the Keyser yards late Wednesday afternoon by a shop engine crew. His head and left shoulder had been severed.

Keyser police said Mr. James took two radios to be repaired at a shop there and may have been walking toward his mother's home on Front Street when he was run over.

The number of exhibitors is 110 more than the 1,366 of last year and the number of exhibits tops last year's total by 811 exhibits. Depreciation Tax Guidelines Eased By State

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Friday Maryland will adopt for its state income tax the new depreciation guidelines and rules issued by the Internal Revenue Service.

Goldstein said Maryland's income tax law provides for a reasonable allowance for exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in trade or business. It also authorizes the comptroller to apply administrative and judicial interpretations of the federal income tax law to the state income tax.

Goldstein said by adopting the new regulations the state "can eliminate an inherent problem which would develop if our taxpayers were required to file state and federal returns under different methods of computing the allowable depreciation."

In addition, he said, taxpayers will receive a tax benefit in their Maryland returns in proportion to what they receive on federal returns.

Red Foley Forsakes Motel Business For Show 'Biz'

The motel business in Springfield, Mo., lost out when Red Foley was offered a regular acting role in "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington," new series starting this fall on Saturday nights.

Foley, now 52, has been singing professionally for 31 years. In the country music field that's a long time.

"I had thought about going into the motel business but this acting opportunity came up and I feel it will be a good thing for me. I'll play the part of an old gent named 'Uncle Cooter' and on occasion the role will call for some singing but not much," says Red.

Burr Thinks Mason Role Challenging

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The corpse came up the gangplank and was lifted into a waiting coroner's truck. Perry Mason couldn't be far away.

He arrived a few minutes later, glancing sharply at a little man loitering on the waterfront. Then Perry went down the same gangplank the blanket wrapped corpse had just come up.

Raymond Burr knows his role so well by now that he soon came up the gangplank and we went to lunch. The "corpse" also got up and went to lunch. Wearing a smile, yet.

Raymond Burr reads a luncheon menu as fast as he reads clues in the eyes of sexy blondes. In less time than it takes him to say, "Della, my brief case," he was telling us how he beat David Niven and Mike Todd by 62 days.

"I went around the world in 18 days," he chuckled.

It was CBS' idea to publicize the Perry Mason Show, which is now seen in Australia, Japan, England, Sweden, Italy and Germany. "You should hear me in Italian," Burr said. "An actor named Mario Colli dubs my voice for Italy. We sound practically the same."

The thought of Perry Mason arguing a case in Japanese was hilarious enough to us, but even in cherry blossom land they love the man who never loses. Mason is No. 1 show in Tokyo.

Unlike many an actor, Burr doesn't find playing the same role artistically stifling, as they say, or boring, or even dull.

"On the contrary," he said, "I think I have to do more acting, playing the same role. It's a challenge finding things to do. I can't do anything startling, but I can't be dull, either."

Borgnine Given Navy 'Promotion'

Actor Ernest Borgnine spent 10 years in the U. S. Navy and retired with a Chief Gunner's Mate rating. Now, through the magic of television, Borgnine is being jumped in rank. He will star come fall in a lusty sea and war comedy, "McHale's Men" and the script calls for him to be a Lt. Commander, skipper of a PT boat whose exploits not only astound but confuse the entire Navy command.

"McHale's Men" will be an October entry on ABC-TV and will be seen on Thursday nights.

The space age has put emphasis on the word "weightless" but Sing Along's Mitch Miller says it's nothing new . . . most people feel that way just after paying their income tax!

Costume Designer Has Problems

If the average tailor thinks he has problems he should try spending a day with Sal Anthony, costume designer on Mtich Miller's "Sing Along" series. Sal is faced with the problem of costuming the 25 man chorus and eight girl dancers.

Armed with a tape measure and a sense of humor, he enjoys kidding the singers about their various problems of girth, height and weight. He refers to the group consisting of Stan Carlson,Ken Schon and Hubie Hendrie as "The Bay Window Boys," or "The Broadside Trio."

"Put the three of them in the dressing room at once," laughs Sal, "and you can't turn the doorknob."

Sander Vanocur Doesn't Care To Be "Specialist"

Sander Vanocur says, "I hope never to become a news 'specialist'. The world is full of real-life drama, and it's everywhere, not just in one area or field. If I had become a doctor, I'd be a general practitioner. And, as a newsman, I love the tag, 'general assignment'."

Borgnine Given Navy 'Promotion'

Actor Ernest Borgnine spent 10 years in the U. S. Navy and retired with a Chief Gunner's Mate rating. Now, through the magic of television, Borgnine is being jumped in rank. He will star come fall in a lusty sea and war comedy, "McHale's Men" and the script calls for him to be a Lt. Commander, skipper of a PT boat whose exploits not only astound but confuse the entire Navy command.

"McHale's Men" will be an October entry on ABC-TV and will be seen on Thursday nights.

The space age has put emphasis on the word "weightless" but Sing Along's Mitch Miller says it's nothing new . . . most people feel that way just after paying their income tax!

Costume Designer Has Problems

If the average tailor thinks he has problems he should try spending a day with Sal Anthony, costume designer on Mtich Miller's "Sing Along" series. Sal is faced with the problem of costuming the 25 man chorus and eight girl dancers.

Armed with a tape measure and a sense of humor, he enjoys kidding the singers about their various problems of girth, height and weight. He refers to the group consisting of Stan Carlson,Ken Schon and Hubie Hendrie as "The Bay Window Boys," or "The Broadside Trio."

"Put the three of them in the dressing room at once," laughs Sal, "and you can't turn the doorknob."
